'Airliner Disintegrates In Air; 34 Die

Wreckage Strewed Over 20-Acre Area

Substitute Flight Ends In Disaster Over N. Carolina

BOLOVIA, N.C. (AP)—A four-engine National Airlines plane with 34 persons aboard apparently disintegrated in flight near here early Wednesday, raining bodies and debris over a 20-acre area of blackness and mud.

Searchers found no survivors. The plane carried 29 passengers and five crew members.

Thirty bodies had been recovered late Wednesday.

Most of the passengers were Northerners bound for Florida vacations.

John L. Morris, a National Airlines vice president at the scene, said:

"The plane which went down southwest of Wilmington Wednesday apparently disintegrated in the air from an unknown cause. The plane was in good order and was in the hands of a veteran crew. There was nothing from the pilot prior to the crash that would indicate any malfunction."

Explosion Indicated

Reporters who hurried to the woods and fields where parts of the massive night coach tumbled out of the murky skies about 2:45 a.m., said there appeared to have been an explosion in flight.

The passenger list included retired Navy Vice Adm. Edward Orrick McDonnell, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor and other decorations. He commanded aircraft carriers in the Pacific in World War II.

The big plane was one of two substitute flights. Passengers originally had been booked on a jet flight which was canceled because of a broken windshield. The other substitute flight reached Miami without incident.

Bodies In Life Jackets

Several of the dead passengers were harnessed in Mae West life jackets—some of the jackets inflated. Bent against a pine tree was an orange, 25-person capacity life raft, fully inflated. Such rafts inflate automatically when released.

At least three dead men were found strapped in their seats. These seats had been ripped from the plane and were scattered about the piney woods.

The plane, flying nonstop from New York to Miami, was last heard from at 2:31 a.m., when it was just south of Wilmington, a river port city 25 miles northeast of this tiny village. The flight plan called for it to veer to sea near here and fly 550 miles from here to Palm Beach, Fla., over the Atlantic.

Atlas Missile Roars Aloft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas, America's most powerful military rocket, blasted off on an intercontinental-range test flight Wednesday night.

Aimed at an ocean target 5,500 miles away, the 85-foot giant climbed into the sky and streaked southeast at 16,000 miles an hour.

This was the first big noise heard at the cape in two weeks. No missiles were launched during the Christmas-New Year holiday period.

The last Atlas, fired Dec. 18, successfully flew its full 6,235-mile range, marking the 14th straight success for the missile since July.

This was the first Atlas to cover the full range since the rocket was declared operational four months ago.

Executive Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Lansing P. Shield, president of the Grand Union Co., died here Wednesday after a brief illness. He was 63.

Dixie Digs Out Of Snowstorm; Warmup Due

By The Associated Press

A storm that spread a paralyzing snow carpet across wide stretches of the South trailed off to snow flurries and rain Wednesday.

Driving conditions were hazardous from New Mexico eastward to Virginia but the prospect of rising temperatures in most areas eased the problems of digging out and opening secondary roads.

The storm left the central Texas Panhandle blanketed with up to 10 inches of snow, the heaviest fall of the winter. West central Oklahoma had up to 8 inches.

The snowfall was the heaviest in several decades in many areas from Arkansas across Tennessee and into north Georgia. Nashville had 7 inches on the ground, heaviest in nine years. Memphis measured 4 inches. The fall ranged up to 10 inches in mountainous east Tennessee.

Rain and drizzle fell from Texas eastward into northern Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. Some scattered light snow was mixed with rain from Tennessee into Virginia and southern Maryland.

A new cold front moved into the Northwest, triggering rain and drizzle along the Washington and Oregon coasts. Scattered snow and snow flurries fell in the northern and central plateau and Rocky Mountain areas. Snow flurries also were reported in Michigan and western New York.

Fair and cold weather was the rule through most of the central portion of the country.

Wreckage Of U.S. Plane, 10 Aboard, Spotted In Libya

VALLETTA, Malta (AP)—The wreckage of a U.S. plane with 10 American servicemen aboard has been sighted in Libya, British naval headquarters said Wednesday night.

A U.S. search plane found the wreckage 75 miles south of the Libyan port of Benghazi, destination of the plane on a flight from Wheelus airport in Tripoli. A spokesman said there was no sign of life.

The plane disappeared Tuesday.

Satellite Missile Alarm System Test Flight Slated

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force expects next month to make the first flight test for Project MIDAS, a satellite system designed to provide the United States with almost instant warning of a missile attack.

MIDAS, which stands for Missile Defense Alarm System, will use infrared sensing devices to detect an intercontinental-range ballistic missile—ICBM—the moment it is launched.

The alarm would be flashed immediately to this nation, which then would have about 30 minutes to prepare for a nuclear bombardment. This is the approximate travel time for an ICBM.

This is short notice. But it is twice the warning which will be given by the giant radar screens of the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System. These radar dishes, expected to go into operation late this year in Greenland and Alaska, are geared to spot an ICBM headed toward America after it has been airborne about 15 minutes.

The extra 15 minutes provided by MIDAS would be immensely valuable in activating defense and retaliatory measures.

This nation's liquid-fuel ICBMs, which have a minimum operational countdown of 15 minutes, would have more time to get off the ground, out of the way of the attacking missiles and on the way to enemy targets.

Strategic Air Command planes would have additional time to get into the air.

Thousands more persons could reach protective shelters.

Congress Opens In Jovial Mood

Ike To Deliver State Of Union Speech Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress began its election-year session Wednesday amid handshaking and backslapping. But Democratic leaders lined up civil rights and other issues certain to end the bipartisan good-fellowship quickly.

The Senate and House were called to order as the clock struck noon. Only the opening prayers stilled the chatter of members greeting each other after a four-month interval.

Wielding the gavel in the Senate was Vice President Richard M. Nixon, more than ever before a center of attention now that he is rated a shoo-in for the Republican presidential nomination.

In the House, the familiar bald-domed figure of Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) was given a standing ovation when he walked to the podium over the opening ceremonies. Rayburn has been speaker for 15 years—longer than any other in history. For him the day had added significance. It was his 78th birthday. This first day of the 86th Congress' second session was devoted to preliminaries, such as the swearing in of two new members—Sen. Norman Brunsdale (R-ND) and Rep. John Kyl (R-Iowa).

Ike's Message Awaited

President Eisenhower will drive up to Capitol Hill Thursday and, before a joint session, tell Congress what he expects of it.

At the White House Eisenhower went over his State of the Union speech with his Cabinet Wednesday. No details were given out.

The Democrats—who hold heavy majorities in both Senate and House—are sure to receive Eisenhower's recommendations in a show-me mood, since this is a year in which the nation will elect a new president and a new Congress.

Talking with newsmen ahead of the opening session, Rayburn said the Democrats will cooperate with Eisenhower "on everything we think would be to the advantage of the country." Otherwise, he added, "we will oppose" the President.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Rayburn's candidate for his party's presidential nomination, didn't discuss cooperation with the White House beyond saying: "We want to give very careful consideration to major matters and all the President's recommendations."

Schedule Speedup Planned

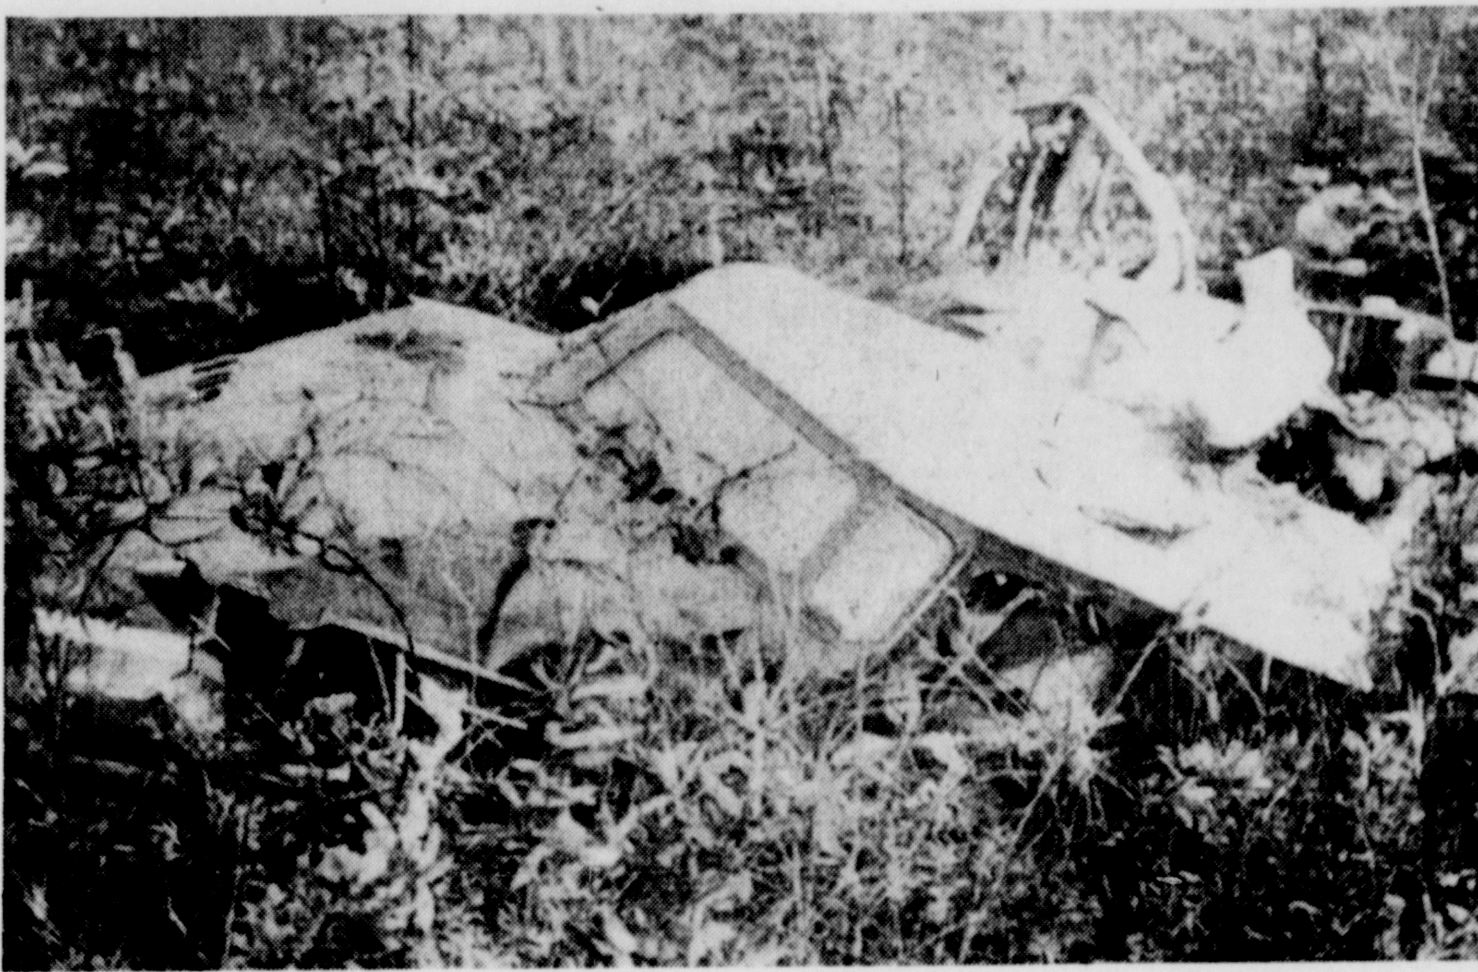

Johnson said this in announcing plans to run the Senate on a speeded-up schedule in the hope of winding up work ahead of the Democratic and Republican nomination conventions in July.

The Senate Democratic chief said the Senate and its committees probably will have to meet earlier and stay later than usual during the first few months of the session.

Both Rayburn and Johnson put a civil rights bill near the top of the legislative pile. Thus, they set the stage for what could be a party-ripping family fight among the Democrats, north and south.

Ticking off other measures due to come up, Rayburn predicted new housing aids, a school construction aid bill, an increase in the minimum wage from the present $1 an hour to perhaps $1.10 or $1.25, and farm legislation of some kind.

The speaker said he didn't see much chance for any major action on taxes.

Shown above is the control section of the ill-fated National Airlines plane which apparently disintegrated in the air early yesterday and carried 34 persons to their deaths. Wreckage of the airliner was scattered over a 20-acre area of muddy fields and pine thickets southwest of Wilmington, N. C. (AP Photofax)

Administration Cool To Voting Safeguard Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration was reported Wednesday as looking with disfavor on a proposal to use federal voting registrars as a means of overcoming discrimination against Negroes.

Sources within the executive department said key administration officials had decided against backing this highly controversial recommendation of the Civil Rights Commission.

In line with this report, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) told newsmen at the start of the congressional session he does not think President Eisenhower will submit any additional civil rights measures.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader, compared the plan for federal voting registrars to waving a red flag in the face of Southern foes who have denounced it as an unconstitutional invasion of states' rights.

There were advance rumblings of a battle over civil rights legislation even before the legislators had settled into their seats.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) told a news conference a bill can be passed by the House within two weeks if enough members want it.

A measure embodying most but not all of Eisenhower's civil rights proposals last year is bottled up in the House Rules Committee, dominated by a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans.

Rayburn said the easy way to shake this bill loose and get it to the floor would be for a majority of the 437 House members to sign a petition to take it away from the Rules Committee.

Such a discharge petition is before the House but lacks the required 219 signatures.

Rayburn said he was not advocating this course and had never signed a discharge petition himself. He said he was just pointing out how a bill could be brought up if enough members want it.

He predicted that the House will pass a civil rights bill of some kind if the issue reaches the floor.

Burns Fatal To Widow Of Drug Executive

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Mary Elizabeth Teel, 47, widow of a wealthy drug executive killed in a lovers' quarrel in 1953, died Wednesday from burns she suffered in her bed early Sunday.

Mrs. Teel, who was scarcely mentioned in the sensational murder trial of Connie Nicholas last spring, had been in critical condition in Methodist Hospital since she was found in her smoke-filled home by her only son, Thomas, 16.

Firemen said apparently she fell asleep while smoking.

The widow of the handsome Forrest Teel, 54, Eli Lilly & Co. vice president, had moved recently to a new home in an ultra-fashionable neighborhood.

Finch Chased Wife With Gun, Maid Says

Heard Shot, Then Wife Scream In Terror

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Barbara her against the wall, she said Jean Finch screamed "help!" in the next thing she knew: "Dr. terror, her maid said Wednesday, Finch was standing between me moments after her wealthy doctor and the car and for the first time husband, gun in hand, chased her I saw he had a gun in his hand.

"He told me to get in the car. I didn't go at first. I begged him all the time please don't kill me—I was frightened.

"Then he fired a shot. It scared me so much I just walked to the car and got in."

The car was a red convertible which Mrs. Finch had driven into the garage a few minutes earlier.

"Then he told Mrs. Finch to get in the car, Mrs. Finch entered from the passenger side on the right, in the front seat. She was sitting with her feet out.

"Dr. Finch entered on the left side, the same side I was on. Then he wanted something from her—as I recall it was the car keys.

"Then Mrs. Finch left the car, and Dr. Finch immediately after her."

Miss Lidholm told the jury Dr. Finch ran after his wife, but this was stricken after the defense protested that she did not see him pursue Mrs. Finch.

Miss Lidholm continued: "Then I rushed into the house and phoned the police. I was about three meters—a meter is approximately 39 inches—from the garage door when I heard the second shot. I heard her yell 'help.'"

"I phoned the police and it took six or seven minutes for the police to arrive."

The state contends the surgeon and Miss Tregoff plotted and carried out the murder of Mrs. Finch in order to: 1. get her out of the way so they could marry, and 2. prevent her from getting a big share of the doctor's wealth via a divorce settlement.

A Paris announcement said Wednesday that after spending April 19-22 in Canada, De Gaulle will come to Washington for a three-day stay and will be in the United States until the end of the month. The White House said Eisenhower is particularly pleased with the forthcoming visit.

U.S. and French officials are working out details for the De Gaulle trip. While final decisions have not been reached, De Gaulle was reported likely to go to New York for a day after he leaves Washington and then visit the West Coast with perhaps a stop or two at other U.S. cities.

"Blue Angel" Killed

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—One of the Navy's famed "Blue Angel" exhibition jet planes plunged into the sea Wednesday killing its pilot.

The Navy withheld details of the accident and the name of the flier pending an investigation and notification of kin.

Today's Chuckle

The biggest trouble with success these days is that its recipe is just about the same as that for having a nervous breakdown.

Tuesday, a desperate "personal" ad appeared in the Milwaukee Journal's classified section.

"Will other persons who saw a black bear blowing a horn in a car in a parking lot on E. Capitol Dr. about 2:30 a.m. New Year's to play second base for the Eve please contact L. V. Barnes Bravos. The shaggy black bear which L. V. Barnes said he saw blowing an auto horn at a cocktail lounge New Year's Eve has been found.

It all started when Barnes left his party to go to his car. On his return he filled in a blank space in the conversation by observing saw one."

He did, too. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weissinger, of suburban Mequon came forward Wednesday Their pet 50-pound black bear cub, Booboo, indeed had been left alone in their car for a time at the cocktail lounge in question. And it was quite possible he had been blowing a horn.

Mrs. Weissinger didn't see anything unusual about that.

"Booboo loves to blow horns," she said.

Lausche Might Battle Kennedy Forces In Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D - Ohio) threatened Wednesday to try to spoil a plan to sew up Ohio's 64 Democratic presidential delegates for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D - Mass.).

Denouncing the plan as having "no sense of democracy," Lausche said he might run a slate of presidential delegates of his own against the Kennedy delegation headed by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Unless he runs, too, Lausche said, "Ohio Democrats will have no opportunity to express a choice" for the presidential nominee. Lausche hasn't said whom he supports.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D - Tex.), a potential rival of Kennedy for the Democratic nomination, got a new plug Wednesday from Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D - Tex.), who told a news conference Johnson's chances are very good.

Questioned about Rayburn's statement, Johnson said he is standing on his previous statement that he is not a candidate for the nomination and does not expect to get it but would take another look if the convention indicated it wants him.

Some of Kennedy's supporters here said — perhaps hopefully — that Lausche won't follow through with his proposal to run as a favorite son in Ohio. He has been a powerful vote getter in the state, which he served five terms as governor.

If Lausche does compete as a favorite son—and he said this depends on whether he can line up a delegate slate before the Feb. 3 deadline—Kennedy's plans for the Ohio May 3 primary could well be changed.

Horn-Tootin' Bear Found; Hubby Right, Wife Wrong

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Milwaukeeans settled down again Wednesday to serious 1960 business, like what's happening to the car in a parking lot on E. Capitol Dr. about 2:30 a.m. New Year's to play second base for the Eve please contact L. V. Barnes Bravos. The shaggy black bear which L. V. Barnes said he saw blowing an auto horn at a cocktail lounge New Year's Eve has been found.

It all started when Barnes left his party to go to his car. On his return he filled in a blank space in the conversation by observing saw one."

He did, too. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weissinger, of suburban Mequon came forward Wednesday Their pet 50-pound black bear cub, Booboo, indeed had been left alone in their car for a time at the cocktail lounge in question. And it was quite possible he had been blowing a horn.

Mrs. Weissinger didn't see anything unusual about that.

"Booboo loves to blow horns," she said.

Four Nations To Be Visited By President

Mamie To Go Along
On 10-Day Journey
Late In February

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, fresh from triumphs of personal diplomacy in other parts of the world, will pay visits in late February and early March to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and his brother Milton, among others, will spend 10 days on the flying journey.

"The President," an official announcement said Wednesday, "hopes that his visit will serve two purposes:

"Publicly reflect his deep interest in all the countries of the new world, and

"Encourage further development of the inter-American system, not only as a means of meeting the aspirations of the peoples of the Americas but also as a further example of the way all peoples may live in peaceful cooperation."

Impressed On Recent Tour

It was apparent during Eisenhower's December tour of 11 nations in Europe, Asia and Africa —when the receptions given him were unprecedented — that the President was deeply impressed with the potentialities of personal diplomacy.

Even before he returned there was talk of a trip to Latin America, and in recent days there had come reports from Brazil and Argentina that visits had been arranged. Wednesday's announcement confirmed these and supplied additional information, but not a detailed itinerary.

Herter To Go Along

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will be the top official other than Eisenhower on the all-air journey.

Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, represented the President in 1953 on a South American mission. Milton will go this time in his capacity as a member of the National Advisory Committee on Inter-American Affairs. This committee, headed by Herter, was set up by the President last November to seek improved relations with other countries of the Western Hemisphere.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, supplied this bare-bones schedule:

Brazil Feb. 23-26; Argentina Feb. 26-29; Chile Feb. 29-March 2; and Uruguay March 2-3.

Conn. Prison Riot Quelled

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—More than 400 shouting, stomping and laughing inmates rioted Wednesday night for nearly 2½ hours at the Connecticut State Prison.

State police troopers and prison guards with tear gas and shotguns forced the prisoners slowly to retreat to upper tiers.

Then State Police Commissioner Leo J. Mulcahy emerged from the prison and said the riot had been broken up. Just a few stragglers remained in the halls and corridors of the prison, he said.

"It looks like it's all over now," he said at 11:25 p.m.

The riot was quelled as a National Guard rifle company headed for the prison in answer to a call for help from Mulcahy. An armed car stood outside.

A count of prisoners was begun. Police reported one prisoner was injured, but it wasn't known how seriously.

Windfall May Balance Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board disclosed Wednesday it made an extra year-end payment to the Treasury of about 266 million dollars—perhaps enough to balance this year's budget.

The Reserve System periodically turns in to the Treasury any earnings not needed to maintain its reserves and pay required dividends to its member banks.

The year-end extra payment reflected a Board decision to change the procedures under which it calculates the amount available for payment to the Treasury.

The Board decided it had been putting more money into its surplus account than was necessary.

It was a sort of windfall to the Treasury and to U.S. taxpayers who must foot the government's bills.

USW Major Winner In Steel Settlement

Four Of Family Die When Auto, Truck Collide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experts analyzing the steel settlement terms generally agreed Wednesday that both sides scored important gains.

But the union came out the major winner.

The United Steelworkers Union:

1. Captured wage-benefit gains valued by the industry at more than 40 cents per man hour, or well over one billion dollars. This is about one-third more than the industry only a few weeks ago insisted was its final offer.
2. Thwarted the industry demand for a free hand in changing local work practices to streamline the work force. Instead, both sides merely agreed to study any "featherbedding" problems.
3. Got the industry to increase and take over the full cost of hospital, surgical, accident and life insurance, costs previously shared by the workers.
4. Improved pensions substantially. A retiring worker will typically get about $100 a month, in addition to about $162.50 in Social Security payment. Also, workers derided swift court action against laid off from jobs permanently or all Germans accused of anti-Semitism.

But the industry also lost out.

3. Succeeded in winning a 2-year contract instead of the 20-month agreement the union wanted.

4. Imposed a drastic limit on the practice of tying wages to living cost increases. The Steelworkers won 17 cents extra under expired three-year contracts through living cost escalator clauses. Now they will get a maximum of 6 cents during the next 2½ years—and may not even get that if their contract costs increase beyond expectations.

Bonn Presses Drive Against Anti-Semitism

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his cabinet aides Wednesday night or Sunday pressed the drive against anti-Semitism. They laid off from jobs permanently or all Germans accused of anti-Semitism.

A communiqué issued after an extraordinary Cabinet meeting also called for speedy enactment of a bill to stiffen penalties against persons "stirring up hatred against groups because of their natural origin." The present law limits the penalty to three to 13 cents an hour don't fall due until Dec. 1, 1960 and Oct. 1, 1961.

2. Avoided any retroactive payments demanded by the union by reason of the mid-1959 expiration of old steel contracts. Union demands for shorter working hours

Drug Helps Muzzle Man Who Barked

LONDON (AP) — The singular case of a man who barked at people was placed in the annals of human behavior Wednesday by a British psychiatrist.

The man, now 65, barked like a dog every 10 minutes for a year and a half.

His bark was so loud it could be heard at a range of several hundred yards. It frightened his more timid commuters when he was waiting for a bus.

It was especially raucous when he was in the hands of his dentist.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Sidney Bockner, reported the case in the Journal of Mental Science.

Until he was 63, he barked only occasionally. But then the urge became uncontrollable and he took to barking six times an hour.

Things finally reached the point where the man was fired from his job, and he turned to Bockner for help.

Bockner prescribed a tranquilizing drug. The barking became progressively less frequent.

"And now, after six weeks on the drug, he is almost cured," Bockner wrote.

There are approximately 2,800 recognized languages in the world today.

State Sales Tax Rebates Urged

BALTIMORE (AP)—Del. Alexander Stark (D-Balto 5th) proposed Wednesday that the state share a portion of its sales tax collections with Baltimore and the 23 counties.

Stark said he would introduce such a bill at next month's General Assembly session, as well as a measure to tax deposits of savings and loan association. He said he believed the state-wide application of both bills would enhance the possibility of passage.

Under Stark's proposal, sales tax rebates would be at the same rate applied to income tax collections, .68 per cent, and might mean about 7 million dollars a year for Baltimore.

In connection with this plan, Stark suggested lowering the "break point" at which the sales tax takes effect from 50 cents to 33 cents.

The Democratic delegates proposed taxing savings and loan deposits at the same rate now levied against the deposits of mutual savings banks, or 10 cents per $100 of average annual deposits. The state would claim the top 10 per cent, rebating the remainder.

The first few hundred thousand dollars would be exempt from taxes, Stark said, eliminating the small neighborhood groups from the tax structure.

Sen. Thurmond's Wife Dies At 33

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Strom Thurmond, wife of Sen. Thurmond of South Carolina, died Wednesday from what doctors described as a rapidly progressing malignant brain tumor.

Mrs. Thurmond, 33, underwent two operations at the National Institutes of Health. The first was in September, the second Tuesday.

Funeral services are scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday in First Baptist Church at Aiken, S. C.

The Thurmounds were married Nov. 7, 1947, while Thurmond was governor of South Carolina and she was his secretary.

Mrs. Thurmond, a striking brunette, was the former Jean Crouch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Crouch of Elko, S. C.

Surviving besides her husband and parents are two brothers, Dr. Robert D. Crouch of Frederick, Md., and Lt. Col. Horace J. Crouch Jr., stationed in Korea.

Jet, 95 Aboard, Lands Safely

DENVER (UPI) — A United Airlines DC-8 jet airliner with 95 persons aboard made an emergency landing at Buckley Field east of Denver Wednesday after circling the strip for an hour.

Two women were hospitalized with apparently minor injuries after the crash but the other 86 passengers were transferred to other flights and continued their journey from California to Chicago.

The injured were identified as Mrs. George C. King, 56, Lathrop, Mich., who received a minor fracture of one ankle, and Mrs. Anna Hoel, 65, of Zanesville, Ohio, whose injuries had not been determined.

Mrs. King was injured while sliding down a canvas chute used to deplane the passengers.

UAL officials here said the plane was damaged slightly when it ran off the runway.

Color Barrier Lifted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes scored another breakthrough in Atlanta's color barrier Wednesday when U.S. Dist. Judge Boyd Sloan ordered desegregation of the Atlanta Airport restaurant.

In the past 12 months, federal courts have forced integration of Atlanta's transit system.

H. D. Coke, a Birmingham, Ala., insurance executive, initiated the suit which precipitated Sloan's ruling. Coke sought an injunction against the restaurant's practice of screening Negroes from white patrons.

Bad Weather Delays Plane, Pilot Search

SALISBURY (AP)—The search for a missing Salisbury pilot and his rented plane was abandoned temporarily Wednesday because of bad weather in the area.

Search planes and surface craft were unable to operate in the wet snow and rough water in the area where J. Harold Sharpe is believed to have disappeared Dec. 29.

A piece of the plane wing, a wheel and strut have been located.

On Tuesday, an oil slick was discovered in Tangier Sound about seven miles southwest of Deal Island and the area was dragged without success.

Sharpe, a feed and poultry company official, left Burlington, N.C. Tuesday after visiting his parents to return to his Salisbury home. He was alone in the light craft. He was last seen at Petersburg, Va. where he stopped to refuel.

Two Men Hunted In Rape-Slaying Case

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — A 13-state alarm has been out by police for two "rough looking" white men wanted for questioning in the rape slaying of Mrs. Henrietta W. Ragan last Dec. 5.

State Police Lt. Truman Moon and Sheriff Robert Miedzinski declined to disclose why the men are sought.

The men were last known to be traveling in a 1949 model sedan bearing Tennessee license plates.

The body of Mrs. Ragan was found in her home by her employer, Maurice T. Thrift, when she failed to report for work at the oil company across the street from her house.

The body of the 44-year-old widow was found on a bed. She had been raped and strangled. The woman had lived alone since the death of her husband, Francis Ragan, in February 1959.

Former Frederick Mayor Dies At 90

FREDERICK (AP) — Funeral services for Lloyd C. Culler, a former mayor of Frederick and prominent building contractor, will be held Saturday afternoon at St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Culler, 90, died within a few hours after he was admitted Wednesday to Frederick Memorial Hospital, one of the many buildings he erected in his lifetime.

U. Md. Fraternity Chapter Suspended; Violated Rule

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—the basketball team, Charles McNeil and Bob McDonald. Both have been banned from participating in athletics for the remainder of the year. Their names became known because of their basketball activities.

The university said it contemplated no further disciplinary action.

Several weeks ago, the charter national president of the fraternity of another fraternity here, Delta Kappa Epsilon, was withdrawn from council that the chapter house at College Park be closed until Sept. 1960.

Bike Rider Killed

BALTIMORE (AP)—A boy riding a bicycle was hit and killed by an automobile Wednesday.

James Baldwin, 10, was Maryland's ninth traffic fatality of the year. He was struck in the 2800 block Frederick Avenue.

Police charged the driver, William Thomas, with manslaughter, reckless driving and inadequate brakes.

TNT Club Plans Party

New officers of the TNT Club assumed their duties and plans were formulated for a Valentine party at the meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lillian Hast, Kent Avenue. The officers are Mrs. Phyllis Fradiska, president; Mrs. Juanita Washburn, vice president; Mrs. Joan Gardner, secretary; and Mrs. Harriett Cooper, treasurer. Mrs. June Johnson and Mrs. Esther Arbogast were named to the sunshine committee.

It was decided to exchange Valentines at the February 2 meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Jane Hoban, Bowling Green.

A white elephant sale was held. A gift of snack trays for her new home was presented by the club to the hostess. Mrs. Fradiska won the hostess gift. Refreshments were served, with the holiday theme carried out in the decorations.

Others attending were Mrs. Mary Louise Lucas, Mrs. Jane Adams, Mrs. Beatrice Bloss and Mrs. Hoban.

UCW Group Sacred Heart Auxiliary Will Elect Friday To Hold Valentine Party

Election and installation of officers of the Cumberland Council of United Church Women will be held at the meeting tomorrow from 10 until 2 o'clock. It is to be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch streets. Mrs. E. E. Miller will preside and Mrs. R. W. Young, state president, will install the officers. Yearly reports will be given and action will be taken on the revised by-laws. Mrs. Jack Means is to present the budget. Mrs. Lee Fresh will give highlights of the national meeting in New York last fall.

The program also includes a panel discussion of the statewide institute on peace, held in Frederick. Taking part will be Mrs. John S. Cook, Mrs. Fresh, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker, Mrs. George Alexander, Mrs. Albert Macy, Mrs. Roy Ringler, Mrs. Robert Nimon, Mrs. Henry Pyles and Mrs. Miller. An outline of the World Day of Prayer, March 14 is to be given by Mrs. Nimon.

Mrs. Peter Smith is to tell of her experiences with foreign students. Mrs. Russell Fink will be soloist. Greetings will be extended by Mrs. Howard Hoyle and Mrs. Charles Davy. Mrs. Louis Chastain is to offer the devotions and Mrs. Bruce Pfeiffer will be accompanist. Luncheon will be served by the Naomi Circle, with Mrs. Earl Stemple chairman.

Mrs. Joseph Lichtenstein, 314 Washington Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

North Branch Homemakers will meet at 1 today at the home of Mrs. Russell Valentine.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Graves, LaVale, have returned from Schenectady, N.Y.

Wreatha Phillips, vice president; Mrs. Ann Currence, conductor; Mrs. June Burkey, inner guard; Mrs. Loretta Sibel, chaplain; and Mrs. Edith Currence, warden. The auxiliary will meet January 14 in Malta Hall.

Alumnae To Plan Social

Plans for the annual get-together and a bake sale are to be formulated at the meeting of the Ursuline Academy Alumnae, which will be held January 14. Miss Mary Jo Simpson will conduct the business session in the cafeteria of SS. Peter and Paul School.

The bake sale is to be held February 6 and 7, with Mrs. John B. Wolfhope chairman.

A Valentine theme is to be carried out for the decorations for the annual alumnae get-together, which will be in the form of a dinner, February 17. The chairman and committee will be appointed at the meeting next week.

Miss Evelyn May, Cresaptown, has returned from visiting her mother, Mrs. John May, Boynton, Pa., during the holidays.

John W. Swick, 32 Humbird Street, is improving in Memorial Hospital, where he is a patient.

Hairdressers' Meeting Changed

Due to the semi-annual meeting of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association, Allegheny Unit 225 meeting date has been changed to January 18.

It will be held at Central YMCA at 8 p.m. At that time there will be installation of officers, reports of the state meeting and the new spring forecast. National Beauty Salon Week, to be observed February 7 to 13, also will be discussed.

The national meeting will be held in Washington January 10, 11. On January 17, the state meeting is to be held at the Emerson Hotel, Baltimore.

City Sets Meetings Friday To Discuss Office Space

Agencies seeking office space in city-owned quarters and three currently occupying space in city-owned property have been asked by Mayor J. Edwin Keech to meet with city officials.

The meetings may result in the city establishing a rental policy for non-municipal connected agencies.

Some meetings have been set for Friday afternoon. Letters to the various agencies seeking office space have been mailed over the signature of Mayor Keech. They asked that the head or representative of each attend.

Meetings scheduled include Allegany County Chapter, American Cancer Society, William Walsh, president, at 1:30 p. m.; Boy Scouts of America, Willis V. Smith, scout executive, 2 p. m.; Alcoholics Anonymous, 2:30 p. m.; Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association, Charles M. See, president, 3 p. m.; Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary, 3:30 p. m.; Vocational Rehabilitation Service, John Cobun, director, 4 p. m. The meetings will be held in the office of Mayor Keech.

All of these organizations are being forced to vacate quarters in the Union Street County Building February 1. This is the result of a decision by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners not to rent the second floor of the city's Public Safety Building for the county Health Department.

The city had requested the county to pay for the office space and a monthly rental agreement worked out on a month-to-month basis until such time as the county building is available. Meanwhile, the county asked the various organizations occupying second-floor space at the Union Street site to vacate by February 1.

Monday, the Mayor and Council received applications from the Cancer Society and Boy Scouts to occupy the second floor of the city-owned Girl Scout House on Greene Street.

No action was taken, in fact, council seemed inclined to "go slow" on any commitment until the entire picture was made clear. It was understood then that other groups would also make application for office space.

In addition to the Girl Scouts, city-owned property is occupied by the Allegany County League for Crippled Children in City Hall Plaza and the Associated Charities in City Hall.

Letters were also sent to these groups asking that representatives be sent to meetings on Tuesday, January 12. The meetings will be held at 1:30 p. m. with the League for Crippled Children, Mrs. Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president; at 2 p. m. with Associated Charities, Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary; and at 2:30 p. m. with the Girl Scouts, Miss Olive M. Hurlburt, Scout executive.

In his letter to the last three, Mayor Keech said the groups are occupying space owned by the city, other charitable organizations have made application for space "and under the circumstances we must establish a policy which will apply to the occupancy of all city buildings by any agency which is not legally an administrative agency of the Mayor and Council."

During its pre-council discussion Monday, the Mayor and Council studied the situation.

It was indicated then that a policy was to be decided, probably including rental fees. When the possibility of charging rental to some groups and not others was raised, one official said it was his opinion if one paid, all should pay.

None of the three groups presently using city property pay rental or upkeep except in the case of the Girl Scouts who began paying the heating bill when a gas furnace was installed.

Local Attorney Gets Ready To Head Polio Drive In Section

A young Cumberland lawyer is leaving his regular practice this month to plead the case of crippled children before the high court of public opinion.

He is 31-year-old Hugh A. McMullen, an associate of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert, who has accepted the job as chairman of the 1960 March of Dimes campaign for Allegany County.

La. Gov. Long Votes For Davis In Runoff

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long Tuesday ended a month-long silence after his political defeat and said he voted for former Gov. Jimmie Davis in the Democratic runoff for governor.

Davis, 53, wartime governor, and deLeesps S. Morrison, 47, serving his fourth term as New Orleans mayor, are racing closely for the Democratic nomination in the second primary Saturday.

The 64-year-old Long, looking through the development and distressed and healthy, said he cast his vote for the assistance it gives to Davis while in Winnfield, his home town.

The two anti-Longs entered the runoff after Morrison ran first and Davis second in an 11-man field during the Dec. 5th first primary.

Mullen, an associate of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert, who has accepted the job as chairman of the 1960 March of Dimes campaign for Allegany County.

In a way McMullen is swapping the role of lawyer for that of insurance representative.

"The March of Dimes has provided happiness insurance for nearly all of our homes," he said. "It is a form of community insurance that none of us can afford to be without."

Like all young parents, McMullen and his wife, the former Miss Lois O'Donnell, are acutely aware of the ravages of polio. They have a ten-week-old son, Jack, and they are grateful for the Democratic nomination in the protection the March of Dimes has achieved for children.

The 64-year-old Long, looking through the development and distressed and healthy, said he cast his vote for the assistance it gives to Davis while in Winnfield, his home town.

The two anti-Longs entered the runoff after Morrison ran first and Davis second in an 11-man field during the Dec. 5th first primary.

He pointed out that in the National Foundation during the past year, the March of Dimes chairman stated. On behalf of the battery of civic-minded citizens who are helping him on the Dimes drive, he declared:

"Don't forget—polio is still a merciless killer."

Forty young victims of the disease, still suffering from its crippling after-effects, were treated by the local chapter of the March of Dimes.

County Board Stops Overtime Practice

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners took formal action Tuesday to rule out compensatory time off for department heads in Grade 1 who work overtime.

Last week the board discussed the matter and decided to eliminate the practice. Members were unanimous that the overtime was not necessary and the department heads receive equitable salaries for their duties.

These crippled children have no voice. They can't stand up for themselves. It is their case that we are pleading."

Actually the young attorney, like all volunteer community workers, must carry on his busy practice while organizing the March of Dimes. A member of the Maryland Bar Association, he received his LL.B. degree in 1954 from Maryland University Law School, where he was a member of Delta Theta Phi law fraternity.

Prior to taking up his legal studies, he was graduated from Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg. In Cumberland he attended St. Peter and Paul's Parochial School and was graduated from LaSalle High School in 1946.

McMullen served in the Army from 1954 to 1956, with much of his service being overseas. From January, 1955 to August 1956, he was an SP/3 attached to the U. S. Army headquarters for the whole of France.

He is a member of the Cumberland Housing Authority, Young Democrats of Allegany County, Knights of Columbus, and Cumberland Elks Club, and serves on the board of directors of the Junior Association of Commerce.

Last year he served as Cumberland chairman of the March of Dimes campaign.

New Edition Of Boy Scout Handbook Available Here

The office of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, located in the County Building on Union Street, now has available the new edition of the Boy Scout Handbook which was printed in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of scouting in America.

With this latest printing, the Boy Scout Handbook, previously known as the Handbook for Boys, attains a total printing of 17,600,000 copies since 1919. It is reputedly outsold only by the Holy Bible.

The first copy of this sixth edition of the Boy Scout book will be presented to President Eisenhower on February 8, the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts.

The handbook has been completely reorganized, redesigned and rewritten. It includes 68 pages in full color and various colors designate material for ten-

SQUARE-RIGGER DE LUXE

Sea rovers and landlubbers who thrill at the sight of a big sailing ship at sea have something new to stir them—the West German navy's training windjammer "Gorch Fock." With her sails unfurled, she presents a truly magnificent picture.

The "Gorch Fock" recently returned to Hamburg, her home base, from her first big 6,000-mile cruise. Her commandant, Commander Wolfgang Ehrhard, was full of praise for the white three-master. "We got our chance to test her during storm, rough sea and fog, and she has turned out just fine," he said.

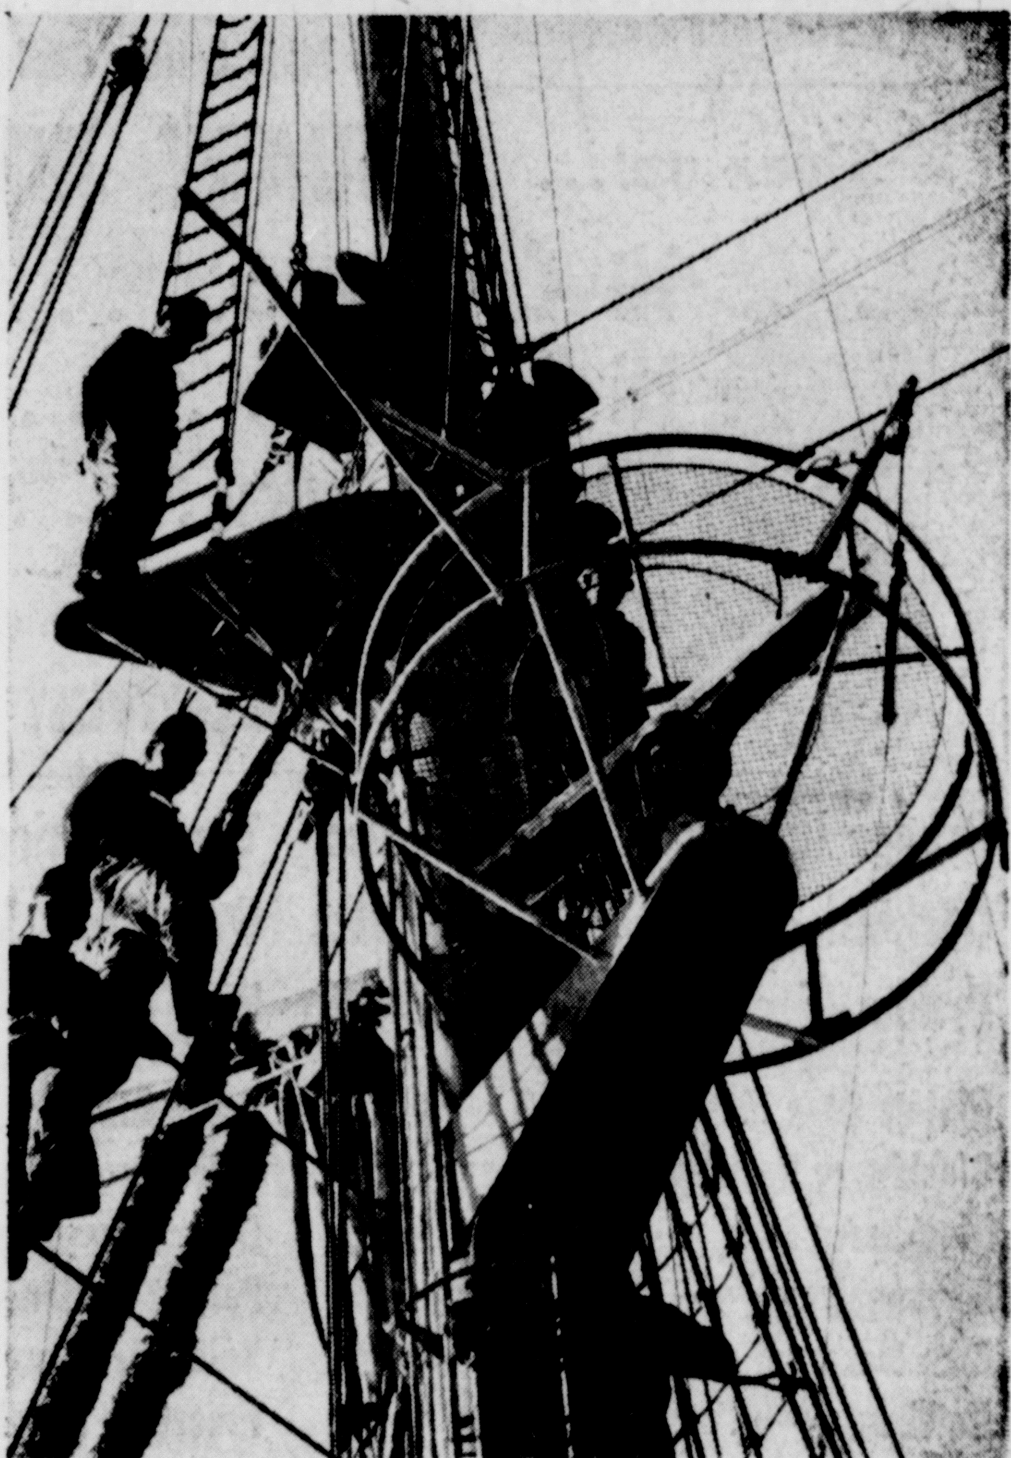

On her 52-day voyage to Santa Cruz de Tenerife in the Canary Islands where she stayed in port for a week, the "Gorch Fock" had aboard her permanent crew of 75, plus 156 trainees. The youths, all about 20 years old, returned full of enthusiasm.

West Germany's fledgling navy has decided to give all its future officers and a good part of its non-commissioned officers a three-months training aboard its only windjammer.

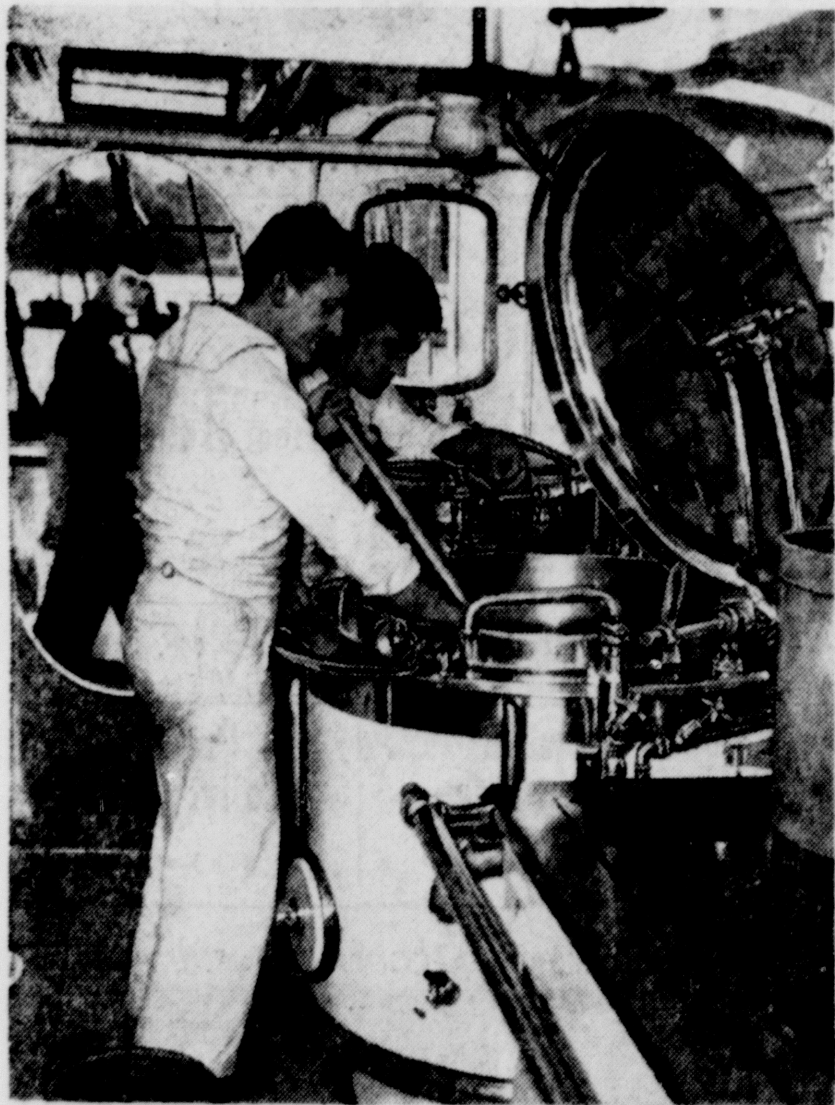

Windjammer though she be, the ship has the most modern equipment. It carries unshiftable heavy ballast to protect it from capsizing, and can bend as much as 90 degrees without taking in water. In addition to the customary lifeboats, the "Gorch Fock" has large self-inflating rescue rafts with canvas tops. She is equipped with radar.

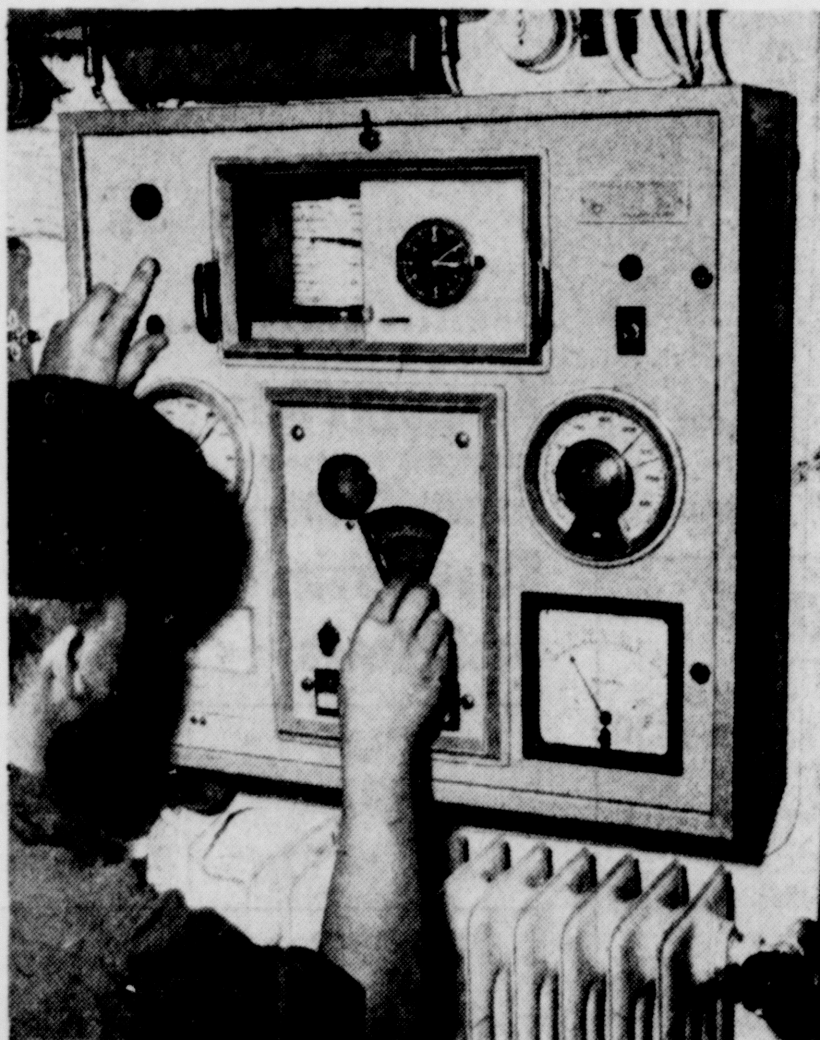

A brisk polishing makes the "Gorch Fock" bell shine like a mirror.

Radar antenna on the foretopmast is part of ship's modern equipment.

Giant kettle for cooking is used in ship's modern galley.

Sailor operates the "combimet" which contains a barograph, two barometers, one water and one air thermometer, one hygrometer and a windspeed meter.

Lt. Cmdr. Hermann Zander views radar screen aboard the "Gorch Fock."

City Begins Plan To Study Traffic Flow

The Police Department is undertaking to alleviate traffic congestion throughout the city. Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said yesterday.

The commissioner revealed the studies in announcing that the department is contemplating making South Centre Street one-way its entire length; and Hill Top Drive one-way from Louisiana Avenue to Oldtown Road.

Impetus was given to the South Centre Street proposal by a traffic count conducted from 10 a. m. Tuesday until 10 a. m. yesterday. The counter was located between Salem and Williams Street, Fleming said, and 6,000 vehicles were clocked in the 24-hour period.

This was much heavier than anticipated and occurred on what is normally considered a "slow day" for vehicular traffic downtown.

Two-way traffic is presently allowed from Harrison Street to Williams Street on South Centre. Fleming said the change to one-way traffic is being considered because of the heavy flow from south to north and west.

Fleming said the traffic count will continue for a week on north-bound South Centre Street traffic, then the counter will check south-bound traffic. A decision will be forthcoming then.

In announcing the Hill Top Drive plan, Fleming said the department first will survey the street to see what the result will be.

The traffic study is being conducted by Fleming, Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney, Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, Officer Louis Downey and with suggestions from other officers.

Rep. Foley To Push Two Area Bills

Passage of two bills of particular interest in the state's Sixth Congressional District was predicted yesterday by Rep. John R. Foley during the second session of the 86th Congress.

Foley said he does not plan to institute any new legislation, but instead will push for passage of the C&O Canal Parkway and Antietam Battlefield bills.

The congressman said he is confident the House Rules Committee will report favorably on the parkway bill and that it will be passed late next month following debate on the House floor.

Seven of the 12 members of the House Rules Committee have indicated they are in favor of the legislation, Rep. Foley said. The bill is bipartisan, he pointed out, being co-sponsored by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

There is still a point of dispute in the Antietam Battlefield bill (H.R. 1805) to be ironed out, Foley said, adding that he expects the bill to be released favorably and on the floor for debate by April. He also is confident this bill will be passed during the session of Congress that opened at noon today with President Eisenhower's State of the Union address.

The Antietam legislation authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to acquire property in Maryland for the battlefield.

Rep. Foley said he also will push for passage of the proposed legislation that calls for an engineering study of the North Branch of the Potomac River.

He added that he has been in consultation with John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, on the development of the North Branch since the Savage River and Stony River dams are affected by the legislation.

Danes Bar Savannah

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Denmark will not allow the new U.S. nuclear ship Savannah to dock in Copenhagen until it has received a complete plan of security measures used aboard the vessel, according to Atomic Energy Chief Christian L. Thomsen. Thomsen said lack of similar "vital information" last year resulted in the government's refusal to let America's nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus into Copenhagen harbor.

Sports Group Gives Support To Plan For Area Lab Branch

At the installation of officers of the Eckhart Square Circle Sportsmen's Club Tuesday several speakers urged more support of area residents for the proposed branch laboratory of the Research and Education Department in this section of the state.

George Walters, a member of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, said the Western Maryland section provides more hunting and other outdoor activity than other areas of the state and he has been urged by many sports clubs to back the drive.

Herbert Knepp, an official of the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation, brought out that the branch laboratory would not only delve into wildlife projects but would also work on stream pollution, use of strip mine areas, water resources. In fact, Knepp said, the lab would be of great benefit to every one in the area.

Don Emerson, a member of the faculty at Frostburg State Teachers College, told of efforts which have been made to obtain the lab for this area. He, too, outlined the benefits which would accrue if the facility were located in this area. The use of the FSTC facilities has been proposed.

Knepp urged the group to write letters to the governor requesting the lab be located in this area.

A talk on the operation of the wild turkey farm in the Belle Grove section about 30 miles east of Cumberland was given by Lester Robertson.

He told of the method used in the propagation of wild turkeys by the use of domesticated turkey hens. In a question period following his talk he said that the hens lay eggs which are gathered and placed in an incubator.

The turkeys which are released in various sections of the state are actually about 50 per cent wild. Robertson said that this makes handling them easier as completely wild turkeys would dash themselves against the fences of the breeding pens and probably badly injure themselves.

Brief remarks were made by Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke, Game Warden Lawrence Florita, Raymond B. O'Rourke, free lance writer; Howard Ward, of the Times-News bureau at Frostburg; Jonathan Jenkins, Frostburg; Camey Williams, Marshall Porter, William Harman, regional fish culturist; William Filsinger, first president of the Eckhart club; Walter Creek, of the Belle Grove turkey farm; William R. Goebel, Frostburg police commissioner; William Thomas, Frostburg and Gene Brown, outdoor writer for The Times newspapers.

Guard Unit Promotes Six

Six local youths have received promotions in Headquarters Company, First Medium Tank Battalion, Maryland National Guard, according to Captain Patsy Algieri, commanding officer.

Capt. Algieri said the men were promoted from Private E-2 to privates first class in the company. The group includes Robert E. Kline, William H. Lloyd, Howard Pollock, Donald K. Squires, Charles W. Weaver and Richard L. Zirk.

The youths recently returned after undergoing six months of training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Capt. Algieri said the local Guard now has openings for 25 men between the ages of 18 and 26 years of age. High school students may enlist and following graduation in June they will take the six-month training at Fort Knox and then return to the local Guard.

The next regular drill of the local Guard is scheduled for Tuesday, January 12.

Celanese Buys Darvan Fiber

NEW YORK (AP) — Celanese will substantially expand market for America Wednesday by buying B. F. Goodrich Co.'s synthetic fiber darvan and announced company's line of fibers.

Darvan, on the market in limited quantities in woven and knit fabrics, can be used in whole or in blends with wool, cotton or other man-made fibers.

Goodrich research on a new synthetic fiber for tire cord during World War II resulted in a chemical called vinylidene dinitrile, from which darvan is produced. Its soft, luxurious feel was unsuited to tire cord but offered potential for wearing apparel.

Goodrich began producing the fiber at Avon Lake, Ohio, in 1952. Harold Blancke, president of Celanese, said acquisition of dar-

FHA Mortgage Service Charge Held Usurious

BALTIMORE (AP) — The attorney general of Maryland says state usury laws are being violated by a service charge of one-half of one per cent on certain FHA mortgages.

In an opinion prepared by Joseph S. Kaufman, assistant attorney general, the state noted that the application of such a charge to mortgages carrying 5 1/2 per cent interest brings the cost of the loan to more than the 6 per cent legal rate.

"We believe that the 'service charge' to the extent that it exceeds the legal rate of interest on FHA guaranteed loans is usurious," said Kaufman.

"In connection therewith we can find no legislative sanction for this practice; therefore, there is no exemption from the constitutional or statutory usury provisions."

The opinion was addressed to John D. Hospelhorn, state deputy banking commissioner who said last month that such a ruling "would make a mess" of many recently written FHA mortgages in Maryland.

Holy Name To Install

The Holy Name Society of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church will install officers at its monthly meeting Sunday evening.

The new officers include John J. Blough, president; James L. Robinette, vice president; Thomas F. Conlon Jr., secretary; and George L. Carney Sr., treasurer.

The installation will be in charge of Rev. DePaul Ripko, OFM Cap., spiritual director of the unit.

The society also will attend the 7 o'clock mass Sunday and receive Holy Communion in a body. Vesper services will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. and the monthly meeting will follow in the school cafeteria.

Tax Officials Urge Self-Help Return Filing

During the 1960 income tax filing season the Internal Revenue Service is again stressing self-help as the basic theme of taxpayer assistance.

Essentially, self-help means that taxpayers complete as much of their returns as possible before asking for help from the Internal Revenue Service.

Most taxpayers can do the whole job after a careful reading of the form itself and its accompanying instruction booklet.

The self-help program has been in effect about five years and it is the belief of the Internal Revenue Service that more and more of the taxpayers are becoming familiar with the requirements for sound preparation of federal income tax or in seeking telephone or office assistance is to have all of his returns.

The Internal Revenue Service 1959 financial records at hand and will provide help to those who have all the necessary facts actually need it and they stress in mind.

A good idea is to file early and which will enable taxpayers with not wait until the late stages of one or two problems to call for the season when telephone lines are jammed and offices crowded.

YMCA Co-Ed Dinner Friday

Central YMCA will open a new program for young adults with a co-ed dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in the Community Room of the "Y."

Men and women of the community are invited to the program and membership in the YMCA is not required. Edward Constable, an instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College, will be the guest speaker, and Wallace Dow, program secretary, is dinner chairman.

Part of the evening will be devoted to a discussion of future programs. Activities that will be considered will include social and square dancing, instruction in arts and crafts, discussion groups and travel programs to local and out-of-town places.

Single men and women are invited to participate in the "Y" co-ed programs which are open to non-members during January.

Loan Volume Up

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Business loans by the 20 largest banks in the 5th Federal Reserve District rose $272,791,000 last week to a total of $772,791,000, the Bank of Richmond reported Wednesday. Most of West Virginia is included in the five-state district.

Will Automation Be A Frankenstein?

There is no longer much novelty in saying that the Frankenstein monster, Mary Shelley's 19th Century fiction, threatens to become 20th Century reality.

Today man is making machines that can destroy him—but only if a man first pushes the button. Tomorrow there may be machines which can dominate or destroy man, independent of human control.

Some experts have said no machine would ever be able to do this. But Dr. Norbert Wiener, former child prodigy who became one of the pioneers in cybernetics, has warned the American Association for the Advancement of Science that machines are already being made which can learn, think and act for themselves without being dependent on man except for menial items like repair and maintenance.

Checker-playing machines exist, he said, which can learn to beat the programmer or operator. And it is quite in the cards, he warned, that a machine will be produced to make the decisions in a push-button nuclear war — and then push the buttons itself.

This, as Wiener noted, is a fearful prospect. The winning of wars is less important than the attainment of war aims, foremost among which is our own survival. A machine set up to win a war might win it by methods that would destroy the "winners" if a single factor necessary to human survival had been overlooked in its programming.

It's a grim prospect, which conjures up a grim vision of the conceivable future: The last man on earth, in the last stages of radiation sickness, carving a message for the benefit of visiting space travelers—

Frankenstein Was Here

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Ordeal Of Adlai

The Reform Democrats in New York, led by Eleanor Roosevelt and Herbert Lehman, are seeking control of the New York State delegation to the Democratic Convention in the interest of Adlai Stevenson. They have organized to depose Carmine DeSapio, Democratic National Committeeman, and Michael H. Prendergast, Democratic State Chairman. DeSapio is the leader of the Democratic Party in New York State and is called by the Reformers a Tammany Boss.

The quarrels are likely to split the Democratic Party in New York State sufficiently to insure a Republican victory. Some contend that that is what they hope will happen because another defeat will depose Carmine DeSapio finally and give the control of the Democratic Party in New York State to Thomas K. Finletter, their choice.

They call their organization the New York Committee for Democratic Voters. The chairman of the executive committee is Irving M. Engel, a lawyer who has been president of the American Jewish Committee but has had no important experience heretofore in Democratic politics. He will be assisted by George Backer, an associate of former Governor Averell Harriman. Backer has long sought to play a leading role in New York Democratic politics. He was at one time married to Dorothy Schiff, owner of the "New York Post," a Liberal newspaper.

In political circles it is generally believed that the objective of this group is to gain the New York State delegation for Adlai Stevenson as the Democratic candidate for President. The theory is that should Stevenson be able to hold the New York delegation, he could capture California by offering the Vice Presidency to Governor Pat Brown and that Jacob Arvey will give him the Illinois delegation. This would bring him into the convention with an assured 264 delegates. Should a battle to the death be developed, Stevenson could then get the nomination for a third time as a compromise.

On the other hand, practical politicians recognize that Stevenson has twice been defeated; that in the interim he has travelled about the country making speeches and about the world writing articles which make him a target for violent attack; that his intellectualism is no longer impressive; and that his wild inflationary ideas are a real menace at this time.

Therefore, the worst that can befall the Democratic Party is that it will have on its hands another William Jennings Bryan whom the Republicans can defeat no matter whom they nominate. With so many Democrats offering themselves as candidates for the Presidency, practical politicians wonder why they have to be troubled by Adlai Stevenson. In the spectrum from right to left, from Senator Lyndon Johnson to Senator Hubert Humphrey, there are enough candidates to choose from without going back to Stevenson.

However, Mrs. Roosevelt's influence is still considerable and looking at the names of Stevenson supporters, there will undoubtedly be ample money to continue an active campaign. In fact, this movement could be well financed out of New York.

Before the Eleanor Roosevelt-Herbert Lehman group intervened so actively and desperately on behalf of Stevenson, it was generally assumed that he would be got out of the way by making him Secretary of State, a position for which he is eminently unfitted by the articles he wrote and the speeches he delivered. However, no Secretary of State can do much mischief unless a President permits him to. Woodrow Wilson had William Jennings Bryan as a Secretary of State but he managed so to circumvent Bryan that he quit in disgust. Franklin D. Roosevelt had Cordell Hull as his Secretary of State but Roosevelt ran his own State Department, ignoring Hull except in one matter, the Hull Reciprocal Trade Agreements, the absurdity of which is only now becoming clear in the endangered American dollar and the out-ricing of American goods in all markets.

Presidents can put a Secretary of State in a cubby-hole and bind him with red-tape. Or, a President might be controlled by his Secretary of State, as President Truman was by Dean Acheson and as President Eisenhower was by John Foster Dulles.

However, it looks as though Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is still anxious to dominate the Democratic Party, that her following is not to be ignored, and that if she can gain control of New York State, its delegation will support the twice defeated Adlai Stevenson.

'Suppose People Want Some Conservatism'

Public Loses A Round In The Inflation Battle

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The die has been cast. The steel settlement means more inflation. It could mean a devaluation of the dollar sometime in the 1960s.

For years to come, the "agreement" just reached under pressure of a variety of forces, some of them political, will plague the management of American industry as well as the unions, and, because of this very defeat of the public interest, state control of wages and prices may someday spell the end of the voluntary system of negotiation between labor and management. Another costly strike, such as has just occurred in steel, would surely settle the issue in the direction of state control.

The inside story of what happened in the final hours of the steel negotiations should not come as a surprise. When economic power wielded by two major groups faces government pressure, there is a tendency to abandon extreme demands and accept a "compromise."

But the real issue in the steel controversy was not what wages should be increased or what prices should be raised. It revolved around the basic question of whether management should have the right to say how many workers should be allotted to certain duties in a plant — in effect, the right to manage.

The employers didn't lose out entirely on this issue. For there now are vague promises in writing in the new contract that the subject will be studied and some reforms will be instituted on work rules. But the so-called "past practices" provisions stayed in the contract unchanged. On this, the unions won a victory, and the American people lost. In the future prices will have to be raised to cover these extra costs of inefficiency and unproductive labor.

For the time being, the companies will not increase prices. They will try to absorb the added costs. But the steel companies buy many products from other industries.

tries, and, if the wage-price spiral continues, it is only a question of time when the steel companies will find it necessary to increase their prices. This may be months off, but it seems inevitable for the future, despite what is being said to the contrary today by the companies.

"We will hold out as long as we can against a price increase," said one steel man, "but we can't tell how long the people from whom we buy will hold the line on prices. If they exercise statesmanship and prudence, maybe they'll benefit by the fight we have made."

The settlement reached does call for a substantial wage increase. It doesn't solve the inflation problem. It doesn't bring the hoped-for stability. Other industries now will find themselves compelled to grant wage increases of similar proportions. In the end, the whole price structure will be affected. The net result over the next five or six years will be a steady diminution in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Could anything have been done to prevent the inflationary settlement of the steel strike? The politicians say nothing could have been done. They argue that, if the strike were resumed, Congress would have been compelled to enact restrictive legislation, possibly along the lines of compulsory arbitration or its corollary — wage and price control. Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

GENEVA AVOIDED — As reported in this column more than a month ago, the Western powers avoided Geneva, Switzerland, as the scene of the coming East-West "summit" conference next spring.

It is difficult to trace the source of the objections to Geneva, but long before the meeting of Western heads of state in Paris, planning officials in Washington were indicating a desire to switch top level meetings from Geneva. This despite the fact that most diplomats who have worked there consider the physical facilities unsurpassed.

To some western diplomats, Geneva has become a symbol of failure and frustration. The ill-fated 1955 summit meeting was held there, and what started off so well with the results being hailed as the "Geneva spirit," collapsed in failure a few short months later when the foreign ministers were unable to agree on means of implementing the general agreements arrived at by the heads of state.

Geneva was the scene of the negotiated end of the Indo-China war. It was agreed there to partition the country into Viet Nam, and Communist Viet Minh.

The United States carried on sporadic negotiations with Red Chinese representatives at Geneva for more than a year in an effort to gain release of five American prisoners of war. Geneva is also the site for atomic test ban negotiations with the Russians—in which no apparent progress has been made in a year of intensive discussions.

What the West proposed to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was that the summit meeting be held in Paris. Behind this proposal was the implication that there may well be a series of such top-level meetings, and that future conferences can be rotated among the capitals of the big powers — London, Moscow and Washington.

Depression Is More Than Normal Sadness

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Life is no bowl of cherries and it is normal to be sad and to despair on appropriate occasions. This situation has been going on since our exile from Paradise but it has advantages. Dissatisfaction needles us to improve our lot, which may explain why we are the only living creatures to make progress.

Depression differs from normal sadness because it lasts long after the reason for becoming sad has passed. It is an abnormal condition, especially when it affects the efficiency and happiness of the individual. It can be fatal—via suicide. These people are blue all day and often awaken early in the morning because the current problem is preying on their mind.

Feelings of guilt, hopelessness, and anxiety are common. The typical candidate is likely to be rigid, obsessed, and easily agitated. Depression may begin with the illness or death of a close relative or friend. In others, it follows a real or imaginary financial difficulty, failure to live up to perfectionist goals, or loss of prestige or social standing. Depression also may follow a promotion, especially when the individual feels inadequate for the job.

The disorder may come and go, sometimes returning only around the anniversary of the original cause. In other instances, the mental state continues, deepens, and requires institutional care. This is particularly true when the individual slips into a mute, stuporous, overwhelming depression.

Treatment at this stage varies from electroshock therapy to modern tranquilizers. Many good products are available but it is difficult to predict which type is best for the individual, and how long it will take before good results are obtained.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Complained another wife to that same old psychiatrist, "my husband insists on banging away on a big bass drum from early morning until late at night."

"So maybe he's a natural musician," soothed the analyst. "I, too, beat a bass drum occasionally for relaxation."

"You do?" exclaimed the wife, "From the inside?"

"Papa," asked a city boy on vacation with his folks, "what makes cocks crow so loudly every morning?"

"My boy," answered his weary father, "they are merely making the most of their opportunity before the hens wake up."

"I see you're driving a new car," said a friend to the town's leading insurance salesman. "So I am," replied the insurance salesman ruefully. "I tried to sell a policy to an automobile salesman."

Chief Of Steelworkers Union Will Back Nixon In Presidential Race

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Watch for two important factors in the wake of the steel strike settlement. One is Dave McDonald's support of Richard M. Nixon for President. The other is an increase in the price of steel.

Regarding Point One, this column can reveal that McDonald, head of the 600,000-man United Steelworkers has already made a commitment to back Nixon for President. Normally a Democrat, McDonald confided to friends after a session at Nixon's home that he would support Nixon's drive for the White House.

This will offset Nixon's greatest political weakness, which is in the ranks of labor. In such key states as Pennsylvania and Ohio, the United Steelworkers have been able to elect Democratic governors and senators in recent years. They have voted Democratic almost as a bloc.

Dave McDonald hasn't rated too high with his own men in the past, but he may be able to swing some of them to Nixon in return for the very generous strike settlement — far better than steel industry leaders ever dreamed of giving the union when they offered no increase at all last summer.

Regarding Point Two, the steel settlement could boomerang against Nixon if the steel companies come through with a price increase. In 1956 when Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, now head of National Steel, engineered a settlement, the increase was for 45.6 cents an hour over a two-year period and was followed by a quadrupled increase in the price of steel.

The current increase is reported to be 39 cents an hour over a 2½-year period. If the steel industry quadrupled prices to take care of a 45.6-cent raise in 1956, it would seem inevitable that some kind of price increase would follow a 39-cent raise in 1960. If so, the one single customer hardest hit will be the U. S. Government, which purchases more steel for national defense than any private industry. Equally hit will be the U. S. consumer and taxpayer.

Behind The Steel Settlement

One man who played a backstage part in settling the steel strike was George M. Humphrey, former Secretary of the Treasury, one of Nixon's most potent backers. Humphrey, who is not only a steel executive himself but is on intimate terms with most of the steel executives, was able to talk cold facts to his industrial friends.

The facts he talked were that both he and they wanted Nixon to be the next President of the United States. Settlement of the steel strike with Nixon getting the credit, Humphrey argued, would help put him in the White House.

It has frequently happened in recent years that steel strikes have been subjected to political settlement. The 1956 strike was settled by Humphrey on the eve of Ike's re-election campaign because a strike would have been embarrassing during the campaign. A resumption of the current strike would have been even more embarrassing to the Nixon campaign.

Note—Humphrey is helping to mastermind a giant money-raising drive for Nixon: is chairman of the northeast Ohio "Dinner With Ike" on January 27 which, with other dinners, hopes to raise several million dollars for the Nixon campaign chest.

Headlines And Footnotes

After Nelson Rockefeller withdrew from the GOP race, it became easier for Nixon and George Humphrey to talk turkey to steel executives. The steel moguls knew that Nixon was the certain GOP candidate and the man they might have to deal with in the White House next year. They also knew that his influence on possible restrictive legislation in Congress would be considerable this year. . . . George Humphrey, longtime head of the Mark A. Hanna Company, follows the same conservative political philosophy of Mark Hanna, but is not as ambitious when it comes to money-raising. Hanna put across William McKinley, most conservative of recent Republican Presidents, by contributing $100,000 from his own pocket, then shaking down insurance companies, railroads, oil companies. Standard Oil alone chipped in $250,000 to defeat William Jennings Bryan and elect McKinley. Afterward a Congressional committee estimated the total political contributions from big business to be $16,000,000. . . . For a while recently Ike was so neutral toward Nixon that the Vice President was seen chiefly at football games. Football is safely non-political and Dick worked hard at it. He chafed, however, at being excluded from some of the big policy conferences. . . . When he wasn't invited to the Camp David talks for Prime Minister Macmillan, he set up his own private tea party for Macmillan. Asked at a press conference why he hadn't invited Nixon, Ike replied: "The Vice President is a very busy man." . . . With Nixon now the only GOP candidate, Eisenhower is throwing neutrality overboard and will let Nixon in on various important moves similar to settlement of the steel strike. It should win more headlines than any Democratic candidate.

De Gaulle's Grandeur

Allied diplomats report that General de Gaulle's high-handed attitude toward his allies is rocking the unity of western Europe. Even de Gaulle's close friend, Chancellor Adenauer of Germany, is getting fed up with de Gaulle's single-minded campaign to restore the grandeur that was France. Muttering behind the scenes is growing louder and the postwar partnership between Germany and France is definitely under a strain.

Among the allied statesmen, the only one who doesn't seem overly upset with de Gaulle is President Eisenhower. Ike still clings to the conviction that de Gaulle is a big improvement over the French governments that used to collapse every few months.

The Market Boom

By Leslie Gould

The stock market wound up a year and a "golden decade" at an all-time high.

There never has been a market boom like it—not even that of the 1920s.

The decade added $234 billion to the value of all listed common shares on the N. Y. Stock Exchange. The boom of the 1920s added $70 billions.

In the Dow Jones industrial price averages, the percentage gain was bigger in the 1920s—about 580 per cent—compared to 324 per cent since the lows in 1949—when the present bull market took off. But what counts is the dollar value.

This point is further emphasized by the growth in the number of shares listed on the Stock Exchange. This total has gone from 2,166,000,000 shares at the end of '49 to 5,733,000,000 currently. In 1921 only 304,079,000 shares were listed, expanding to 1,128,000,000 in '29.

The market hasn't been a one-way street during the decade, nor during the year just closed. In the decade the market has had to contend with the Korean War, the Cold War, the two illnesses of the President, the Russian leadership in the conquest of space and labor turmoil, including the longest steel strike in history.

Also—the U. S. lost its pre-eminent economic position, with the rise of Russia to a serious competitor in world trade and also with the resurgence of the two former enemy nations—West Germany and Japan. The dollar no longer is the strongest currency in the world.

In this last year of the "golden decade," the stock market, after a hesitant start, pushed ahead to an all-time high reached on the first trading day of August. It sold off after that, making a bottom toward the end of September. The market held the next two months in a 25-point trading range, turning strong before Thanksgiving and approximating the all-time highs in December.

Trading has been marked by wild gyrations in the glamor stocks, particularly those in the electronic field, and fast bidding up of new issues, in the Over-the-Counter market.

There have been a number of spectacular operations, smacking of old time pool manipulations. There have been fast runups and even faster collapses. The bloom came off some of those Florida real estate speculative enterprises.

The aircraft manufacturing shares, the oils, the rails and buildings have been depressed. The troubles in Cuba under Castro upset the sugars and several utilities. American and Foreign Power which has the concession in Cuba had to cancel a bond issue that already had been sold. The stock has lost more than half its value from its year's high.

An outstanding feature on the upside was the almost quadrupling of the year's low of American Motors. This is the stock on which Louis E. Wolfson made the market's most famous wrong guess — selling it short around $11. It touched this year a high of $96.87½. Ford Motor came back and made an all-time high in the face of two large offerings by the Foundation.

A record was established for stock splits, the biggest being American Telephone's 3 for 1. The stock made a new high.

Others that voted 3 for 1 splits included Lorillard, Zenith, Thio-kol, Colgate, General Mills, General Telephone, Southern Pacific, Gulf Oil, Goodyear, Coca Cola, Firestone and American Motors.

Among those splitting 2 for 1 were Eastman Kodak, Reynolds Tobacco, McKesson & Robbins, Standard Brands, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Middle South Utilities, Emerson Electric and American Tobacco, International Business Machines split 3 for 2.

The market's comeback after the late summer and early fall sell off was based on the strength of general business and the record earnings despite the steel strike. The market also was helped by the faster than expected resumption of steel production after the Taft-Hartley injunction brought a ruce in the tieup.

The excuse for the summer selling was the announcement of Russian Boss Khrushchev's visit. The market actually had gotten ahead of itself and was in a vulnerable technical position.

The stock market largely ignored the Federal Reserve Board's tight money actions—the discount rate being raised twice to 4 per cent. This did upset the bond market and made the Treasurer's job of financing the staggering debt doubly difficult.

Area Broiler Growers Listed On Honor Roll

W.Va. Poultry Records Are High

MORGANTOWN — The November Honor Roll and the Honorable Mention List of West Virginia broiler growers were announced yesterday by Ted R. Hash, Extension poultryman at West Virginia University.

November production averages were as follows:

PRO-LEAGUE (growers with a 6,500-bird capacity or more) — Flock size averaged 6,233 birds, with an average weight of 3.70 pounds. Feed conversion ratio was 2.42 pounds; livability was 87.36 per cent, and the production efficiency index was 1.529.

SEMI-PRO-LEAGUE (growers with a 2,000 to 6,500-bird capacity) — Flock size averaged 4,622 birds, with an average weight of 3.77 pounds. Feed conversion ratio was 2.34 pounds; livability was 98.75 per cent, and the production efficiency index was 1.611.

The November Honor Roll follows:

PRO-LEAGUE — Max White, Pocahontas County; L. S. Hott, Grant County; James E. Westfall, Hardy County; Estyl Ruddle, Pendleton County, and Ralph Mallow, Pendleton County.

SEMI-PRO-LEAGUE — Brook Muntzing, Grant County; Floyd Waggy, Pendleton County; Ira D. Huffman, Pendleton County; S. M. Mongold, Hardy County, and Roy B. McLaughlin, Pocahontas County.

The November Honorable Mention List for feed conversion ratio follows:

PRO-LEAGUE — L. S. Hott, Grant County; Estyl Ruddle, Pendleton County; Max White, Pocahontas County; S. P. Cain, Hardy County, and Ralph Mallow, Pendleton County.

SEMI-PRO-LEAGUE — Vernie Hipp, Grant County; S. M. Mongold, Hardy County; S. P. Cain, Hardy County; C. S. Caldwell, Greenbrier County, and Bernard Hinkle, Greenbrier County.

There were 26 records submitted from eight counties, covering 154,550 broilers, Hash reported.

Scout's Training Saves Life Of His 10-Month Old Sister

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Ten-year-old Eddie Rosiak put his scout training to good use when he saved the life of his 10-month-old sister.

The infant, Joyce Dean Rosiak, became choked and lapsed into unconsciousness at the home in nearby Westover. The mother, Mrs. Edward Rosiak, tried unsuccessfully to revive the child.

Mrs. Rosiak then called Eddie, a cub scout, and he tried artificial respiration. However, this also failed to revive Joyce.

Eddie then started breathing in the child's mouth. It worked, and the child was crying a few moments later. Eddie said he was "praying all the time" during his heroic effort.

Dr. Robert Nottingham arrived soon and treated little Joyce.

Eddie is going to get an award from his scout pack for his action.

W.Va. Hunting Mishaps Equal 1954 Record

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The number of accidents during West Virginia's 1959 hunting season equaled the record 110 counted during the 1954 season, the State Conservation Commission reported Wednesday.

Last year's total included 103 shooting accidents and seven fatal heart attacks, law enforcement chief Art Bachman said. Thirteen of the 103 shooting accidents were fatal.

During the 1958 season, the commission reported 68 hunting accidents, including nine fatal shootings, two heart attacks and one drowning. In 1957, the number of accidents was 82, including 12 deaths.

Of the 103 shooting accidents in 1959, six fatalities were reported among 17 self-inflicted injuries, Bachman said. Nine of the fatal shootings were among 85 shotgun woundings and four were among rifle accidents.

PSC May Transfer Land For Armory

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The state attorney general's office Wednesday, in an opinion written for Potomac State College President E. E. Church, said the college could transfer title to a piece of land.

The land is located at Keyser and plans call for transfer to the State Armory Board for construction of an armory to be used in the school's ROTC program.

THANKS

We want to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the people and merchants of Lonaconing, the schools, lodges, clubs, the Red Cross, the 40-8 Club of Cumberland, the Presbyterian church and various other organizations for their liberal donations, and articles of clothing that were given to us during our recent fire disaster.

THE SMITH FAMILY

Proposed Site Of Frostburg Housing Development

The proposed location of the Frostburg Housing Development is shown above. It is located in the south angle formed by the intersection of South Water Street and Park Lane. A proposed extension of South Broadway would bisect the skating rink building seen in the center of the picture. The development will have 25 duplex homes to take care of 50 families. An administration building will also be erected. No two buildings will be alike and all will be of modern design using frame, brick and stone in the construction. This is the first public housing development in Allegany County outside of Cumberland.

Future Of Rosemary Johnson Remains Uncertain As Parsons Couple Awaits Final Action By DPA

By JOHN T. KADY
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Little Rosemary Johnson, the subject of a long and involved custody battle, will be allowed to stay in the home of her foster parents, Forrest and Edith Isner of Parsons, for a while longer.

However, State Public Assistance Director Thomas Egbert Wednesday would not specify how long the Isners will be able to keep the three-year-old child. He said he was uncertain when the department would remove the child from the Isners and place her with new adoptive parents.

Last November the State Supreme Court ruled in favor of the DPA and, in effect, held that the Isners must turn the child back to the department for adoption, if the latter so demanded.

Another court battle may also be coming up in a similar case involving Hobert and Hilda Davis of Parkersburg.

The Wood County Intermediate Court recently held that a foster child placed in the Davis home four years ago could remain with the foster parents.

Contract Specific

As both the Isners and the Davises have expressed a desire to adopt the children the question has come up why they are not allowed to do so.

Egbert explained that "in the contract signed by both parties at the time of a child's placement it specifies that the foster parents understand the child will not be available to that particular family for adoption."

Egbert said the no-adoption clause in the foster home contract could be waived if it was thought best for the child. He said the purpose of the clause is "to safeguard the welfare of the child."

"Sometimes an older couple can do a good job of caring for an infant but would have trouble raising the child as it grows older," Egbert said. He said both the Isners and the Davises are older than average parents of young children.

Egbert said a decision concerning the Davis case will be made by the department soon. "There are many facets of the case that must be examined," he said.

Egbert indicated that the decision would either mean that the DPA would let the Davis couple keep the child or it would bring about more court action.

Tried Reclaim Child

The Davis foster child was placed in their home when he was about six weeks old and has been there ever since. Rosemary the recreation room of the church has been with the Isners since October, 1956, when she was one year old.

Egbert said the department attempted to remove Rosemary from the Isner home within a short time after placing it with the couple. He said the interval in the Davis case "may have been longer."

Egbert said the department is now making a major effort to move children out of foster homes as soon as possible in order that foster parents do not become too attached to them.

Egbert said other main conditions in a foster home contracts are that foster parents: —Treat a child like a member of the family.

—Cooperate with the DPA in carrying out plans for a foster child including transfer to another home and adoption.

—Permit representatives of the DPA to visit the home and talk with a foster child whenever desired.

Keyser Jaycees Meet Sunday

KEYSER—Reeves Taylor, an attorney, was appointed state director in the Junior Chamber of Commerce at meeting of the local Jaycees Monday night. He succeeds Vince Panico, who recently tendered his resignation.

Plans were discussed to contact local merchants who have not contributed to the Christmas decorations. The club also expressed appreciation to those who made the decorations in the city possible. Each year additions will be made.

Members will meet at the Sears-Roebuck store Sunday to take down the decorations and store them for next year.

Nationally-celebrated "Bosses Night" will be held January 17 through January 23. Films are to be shown at the next membership meeting, Monday, January 18, at 8 p. m. in the Mouse Home. A board meeting will be held prior to the regular meeting.

Pocahontas Will Install New Officers

MIDLAND—Laetta Council No. 60, Degree of Pocahontas, will install their chiefs at 7:30 p. m. today (Thursday) in the Red Men's Hall. Council Deputy Agnes Monahan will be the installing officer.

Installed will be, Margaret Foley, prophetess; Anastasia Youngblood, Pocahontas; Marguerite Raynor, Wenonah; Robert Blair Sr., Powatan; Hazel Taylor, keeper of records; Margaret Williams, keeper of wampum; Leah Rennie, collector of wampum; Delphia Hyde, trustee for 18 months; Pansy Thrasher, representative to the Great Council of Maryland, and Delphia Hyde, alternate.

The new Pocahontas will name the guard of the forest; the guard of the teepee; scouts, warriors, councilors and runners, all of whom will be installed.

Guild Lists Committees

FROSTBURG — The Women's Guild of Zion United Church of Christ met a recent evening in the recreation room of the church with Mrs. Genevieve Broadwater presiding. Hostesses were Mrs. Cornelia Lancaster, Mrs. Doris Lancaster and Mrs. Ethel Livingston.

A skit, "The Meaning of Christian Discipline," was presented by Mrs. Kathleen Sine, assisted by Mrs. Molly Dudley, Mrs. Ann Storm and Mrs. Edith Brode.

The following chairmen of committees for 1960 were appointed: Publicity, Mrs. Mae Taylor; flowers, Mrs. Leona Filsinger and friendship, Mrs. Kathleen Sine. Mrs. Marian Vogtman was welcomed as a new member to the guild.

Close Heads Fire Company

FROSTBURG — William Close was elected president of the Frostburg Fire Department Tuesday night. David Powell will serve another term as chief.

Other officers elected were John C. Durst, vice president; Michael Grable, secretary; Joseph Durst, treasurer; Ernest Pfaff, sergeant-at-arms; Paul Haberlein, chaplain; Willard Blank, William Preston, Adolph Via, Donald Greig and Leslie Bevan, trustees; Haberlein, Alvin Rankin and Florian Nickel, delegates, and Greig, alternate.

Installation of officers and appointment of committees will be held at the next meeting.

1,700 Will Help Count Population In West Virginia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seventeen hundred persons will be hired to take the 1960 population census in West Virginia, Rep. Arch A. Moore (R-W. Va.) said Wednesday.

Moore said the census will start April 1 and will be taken in two phases. The first phase will include contracting every household in the state and asking six questions. The second phase calls for more detailed questioning of one out of every four households.

At the same time, Moore said Thomas F. Wilshire II, Fairmont, W. Va., has been appointed census supervisor for the West Virginia district covering seven northern counties. He and other district supervisors are to attend an orientation course next week in Pittsburgh.

There will be a supervisor for each of the state's six congressional districts, plus 33 "crew leaders" to supervise the 1,700 enumerators, Moore said.

Pythian Sisters End Year With Annual Party

MIDLAND — Twenty-five members of Myrtle Temple No. 2 Pythian Sisters attended the Christmas party and regular business meeting held in Red Men's Hall with Mrs. Earlene Cordial as presiding officer.

A gift of $5 was given to a young girl and $3 to the Civic Committee toward the light decorations. Cards of cheer were sent to ill members and a donation of food to a worthy family. A get well card was sent to Joseph Monahan, town bailiff and also hall manager of Red Men's Hall, who is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

The party included a turkey supper with all the trimmings. Mrs. Viola McGann gave the blessing. Members serving on the committee included Mrs. McGann, Effie Sires, Anna Jenkins, Carrie Morgan, Eleanor Knott, Nancy Brooks, Frances Reid and Fannie Kroll. Jingle gifts were exchanged by members.

The auditing committee met last night for the purpose of auditing the books for 1959. This committee includes Pearl Blair, Thelma Harclerode and Virginia Blair. Audrey Buckalew, secretary; Naomi Kroll, treasurer; Eleanor Knott, Jane Hotchkiss and Anna Jenkins, trustees.

A practice for installation of new officers for 1960 is called for January 10 at 2 p. m. in Red Men's Hall. The next regular meeting will be held January 14 at 7:30 p. m.

Midland Council Sponsors Public Tree Burning

Event Is Set For Friday Night

MIDLAND — At the meeting of Mayor Lionel D. Baker and the City Council, Mayor Baker announced that the public burning of all Christmas trees will be held Friday evening at the ball park.

Trees will be collected Friday afternoon by Robert Turner, Midland Fire Department No. 1 will stand by to prevent the spreading of flames. The burning of the greens is held in cooperation with the Maryland Safety Council. All citizens are urged to cooperate and have their trees ready to be collected Friday afternoon.

Street Commissioner Donald Cook announced that "NO PARKING" signs have been placed on both sides of Paradise Street near Midland Elementary School and parking is allowed on one side of Paradise Street only, from Broad Street to Dan's Rock Road. Parking is also allowed only on one side of Railroad Street. Motorists are again warned about parking cars in front of the Post Office, he observed.

Jesse Jacobs, state fire marshal told the mayor and council about state laws governing the dilapidated buildings in corporation limits. He reported that several buildings on Broadway Street could be described as fire hazards, and these buildings should be torn down before some one is seriously injured.

Mayor Baker announced that a large quantity of ashes and salt is now in readiness for use on icy streets. The streets will be ashed and salted by Robert Turner.

Council appointed Charles McGowan to serve as bailiff in the absence of Joseph Monahan who is seriously ill in Sacred Heart Hospital. "Jokie," as he is affectionately known by everyone in this community was taken ill several weeks ago. A relief fund for "Jokie" was collected by the Mayor and Council to help defray hospital and doctor bills. All organizations and friends of "Jokie" can still contribute to this fund.

Insurance Firm Buys 16 Tracts In Hardy Co.

Largest Land Sale On Record

MOOREFIELD — One of the largest land transactions on record was recorded late in December at the Hardy County Court House when Moore, Kepple and Company, Inc., transferred 16 tracts of land and mineral rights in Hardy County to the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company.

Consideration for the transfer of properties in West Virginia which included the 16 tracts in Hardy County was $715,000. State transfer taxes on the deal were $1573 and federal transfer stamps were $786.50. The Moore, Kepple and Company interests had timber properties, mineral leases and rights in several counties in West Virginia.

Fees collected during the month of December by R. M. Gamble at the Hardy County clerk's office totaled $1213.10. Most of the fees collected were for hunting and fishing licenses which totaled $819. Nine resident hunting licenses were sold for $18, 40 non-resident hunting licenses were sold at $800 and one resident bow hunting license at $1. Fees recording totaled $228.45, fees copies $34, fees executors cases $3, fees administrators cases $15, fees probate of wills $15, fees marriage license $1, fees property tax transfers $85.80 and miscellaneous fees $10.85.

Five Area Girls Attend Meeting Of Youth For Christ

BARTON — Five girls from the Barton area were among the nearly 10,000 young people attending the Youth for Christ Capital Teen Convention in Washington, D.C. last week.

Helen Crawford, Mary Jane Ross, Regina Derham, Faye Derham, and Mable Mackley, all members of the Mill Run Church, left with the group from Cumberland December 28.

Miss Regina Derham is employed at State Teachers College in Frostburg. The other four girls are students at Valley High School in Lonaconing. All are active in the Tri-State Youth for Christ organization in Cumberland. The organization is nondenominational and the public is invited to attend the Saturday night rally held each week at 115 North Mechanic Street in Cumberland.

NCAA Indefinitely Suspends Oklahoma For Recruiting

Tulsa Also Is Put On Probation

Sooners Failed To Reveal Details Of Fund For Athletes

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — The University of Oklahoma Wednesday night was handed one of the severest penalties ever meted out by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. — indefinite probation and a ban from appearing in post-season football games and on television — for failing to disclose details of a fund for recruiting athletes.

At the same time, the NCAA council, the policy-making body, put the University of Tulsa under one year probation for recruiting irregularities.

Held Responsible
In both cases, it appeared that the institutions were being held responsible for violations not entirely under their control.

Oklahoma's difficulty arose from a fund administered by Arthur L. Wood of Oklahoma City. In at least one case the NCAA established that the fund had provided improper financial aid to a student athlete.

Wood, despite urging from university officials, has refused to open his records to NCAA investigators.

The severity of the sentence was due largely to the fact that when Oklahoma was under investigation in 1954-55, no one mentioned the existence of this fund although later investigation revealed that some athletic department members must have known about it.

«In commenting on Wednesday night's action, Dr. George L. Cross, president of the university, said the fund incident occurred seven years ago. He added "When the 1953 violation was brought to our attention (we) took steps immediately to inform the NCAA of it. The NCAA first learned of it through our own initiative."

Denies Fued
Wood, reached at his home, denied there had been an organized fund and added that he considered it a closed issue.

Tulsa's trouble stemmed from an offer of a $400 gift or loan — it wasn't clearly established whether the money was to have been repaid — offered to a football player who eventually went to another school.

Walter M. Byers, NCAA executive director, said Tulsa officials had pointed out the irregularity as soon as they learned about it and the donor, not a member of the athletic department, never had handed over the money. The university was held responsible, however, because there was a question whether the offer was withdrawn before or after the boy picked another college.

Cumberland Globes Belt Trinity, 67-37

The Cumberland Globes trounced Trinity Methodist cagers, 67-37, in the opening game last night in the Central YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League. A second game between Ridgeley and Wiley Ford was postponed until a later date.

Cumberland hopped off to a 15-6 first quarter lead and was never in trouble as the new 10-team circuit got under way. High scorers were Rueschel with 16 and Miller with 12 points for the losers while J. Twigg and R. Riggs with 18 apiece for the victors. The boxscore:

TOP ATHLETE—Maria Ester Bueno, 19-year-old Brazilian tennis star, has been voted Female Athlete of the Year for 1959 in the annual Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters. Miss Bueno won both the Wimbledon and U.S. championships during the year. (AP Photofax).

Maria Bueno Is Named Top Woman Athlete

Won Wimbledon, U.S. Net Titles

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maria Ester Bueno, a Brazilian schoolmarm turned tennis player, Wednesday was voted female athlete of the year for 1959 in the annual Associated Press Poll.

Miss Bueno, 19, won both the Wimbledon and U.S. championships. She defeated Darlene Hard at Wimbledon for the title and won the U.S. crown at Forest Hills by turning back Britain's Christine Truman.

Maria received 126 of the 288 first-place votes cast by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters.

The only other gal to collect over 100 first-place votes was Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., the women's professional golf champion. Miss Rawls drew 102 first-place votes. She won 10 tournaments, and wound up as the year's high money winner at $26,774.39.

Chris Von Saltz, teen-age swimmer from Saratoga, Calif., won an unprecedented five gold medals in the Pan American Games, and finished third in the balloting with 43 firsts. Lucinda Williams, Tennessee State sprinter, who won both the 100 meters and 200 meters at the Pan-American Games, was fourth with nine firsts.

Miss Bueno started attracting attention when she won the junior girls championship in Miami's Orange Bowl two years ago. Since then, she has marched steadily up the ladder.

Maria is dark, with short black hair, long legs and has an intense look about her. She rarely wears makeup and if she did, she'd be a knockout.

"My father wanted me to be a veterinarian because he is one," she said recently. "But instead I took up teaching. It was just to please him, though. I'd rather play tennis."

Davis & Elkins Whips Shepherd Five, 113-95

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI) — Davis and Elkins, with all five starters hitting in double figures, overpowered Shepherd 113-95 here Wednesday night to pick up its eighth win against three losses. Leading 54-46 at the halfway mark, D&E came on with a rush in the second half to pull away. Bob Ferrell tossed in 33 points for the winners, followed by Frank Holsclaw with 20. Don Fowler 18, John Warren 17 and Dick Shreve 15. Conner paced Shepherd with 31 points.

University Refuses Fieldhouse For Bout

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Brigham Young University board of trustees has rejected a request to use the BYU fieldhouse for a proposed middleweight championship fight, it was learned Wednesday.

A school spokesman said the trustees turned down an application from the Intermountain Boxing Club to stage a title bout on the school's campus at Provo between NBA champion Gene Fullmer and Carmen Basilio or Joey Giardello.

Keyser Scores Over Hawks In PVC Tilt 54-51

Paw Paw Defeats Ft. Ashby, 58-36

Keyser High's Golden Tornado edged past Ridgeley High's Black Hawks, 54-51, while Paw Paw's Pirates whipped Fort Ashby, 58-36, last night in Potomac Valley Conference engagements at Ridgeley and Paw Paw.

In a nip-and-tuck affair that saw both Ridgeley and Keyser have both shooting streaks at times as they traded baskets, the Tornado five chalked up its fourth win of the campaign in six starts, including a 4-1 league mark. Ridgeley suffered its fifth setback in eight contests with a 3-2 loop record.

Keyser maintained a two-point edge at the close of the first two periods, 13-11 and 23-21, before Ridgeley rallied to take a 36-30 lead in the third stanza. Keyser tallied three quick baskets to knot the score at 36-36 before Ridgeley once more went ahead 39-36 and a basket and foul by Dave Imes as the quarter closed.

Keyser caught the Hawks again at 43-41 and Larry Smith's basket put the Tornado ahead to stay. With 11 seconds remaining and Keyser holding a 52-51 edge Gary Keedy converted a pair of foul shots to ice the contest for the winners.

Keedy, who scored four times from the foul line in the tense fourth quarter ended up with 14 points, tying teammates Jim Whitlatch and Larry Smith for top scoring honors for Keyser. Ken Phillips and Tom Benson each scored 14 markers for Ridgeley.

At Paw Paw, the Pirates jumped off to a 26-16 halftime lead and built it to 46-27 at the close of the third quarter to coast to their fifth triumph in six games this season. Paw Paw stands 2-1 in the PVC. Fort Ashby, bowing for the fifth time in seven starts, is 1-2 in the circuit.

Three Paw Paw players each scored 14 points for the winners, Edmonson, Malcolm and Walls. Steed scored 14 points in a losing cause for Fort Ashby's Eagles.

In a junior high preliminary game Paw Paw was returned the victor over Fort Ashby, 40-37.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I have two daughters who are running me ragged. Can you tell me what to do without getting them mad at me?

Almost every weekend they bring their children to "Mama Bertha" (that's me) so they can take trips, go to parties and be free of responsibility. It never occurs to them that Dad and I might have plans. They assume I'm strong as a mule and ready, willing and able to run after their spirited youngsters.

They also bring their mending and unfinished knitting. When they entertain they expect me to come to their homes, not as a guest, but to help cook and bake.

My husband gets mad because he says I let them take advantage of me. What can a mother say?—NOT APPRECIATED

HOLLYWOOD

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—All by herself in Rome, Anna Magnani is speaking her lines again for "The Fugitive Kind." There were several reels in which her broken English was difficult to understand so those two young perfectionists—Martin Jurov and Richard Shepherd—sent the reels back to Anna, and she is, as we say in the vernacular in the movies—"looping them."

Sometimes I wonder if her many battles on the sets of the movies she makes (for instance, like the ones she had with Marlon Brando on "Fugitive Kind") aren't caused by her inability to understand English better. She battled with Brando constantly.

Obviously Darryl Zanuck wasn't kidding when he decided to get away from it all in Hollywood, because he hasn't made a picture in this town, personally, that is, for a long time. Now his next picture "The Ballad of Red Rock" will be filmed on the Israeli Desert, 50 miles from the closest settlement.

Juliette Greco again will be starred in a Zanuck film, and this story concerns life among the young people of Israel. Because of the ruggedness of the location, Darryl has had to postpone starting the picture until mid-February. The location will last at least two months.

Looks to me as if "One-Eyed Jacks" is going to become a junior "Spartacus" because Marlon Brando, after a year on production, has decided to put it back into work. He will take the company to Mexico on location the end of this month to shoot about a week of riding scenes with himself and supporting players that are needed to bridge certain sequences in his movie.

Meanwhile, Marlon is snipping away like mad on the over long rough cut, and in one day recently was able to eliminate 20 minutes. The picture will be cut to about three hours and 15 minutes and will be released on the 4th of July.

Mrs. Bing Crosby, who has been in Rising River (near Elko, Nevada) for three days entertaining a group of nuns, came back in time to get ready for the party she and Bing are giving for Lindsay Crosby's birthday. Bing and Kathy invited all his young crowd, and Lindsay now has a new girl from Las Vegas, so it looks like he's following the footsteps of his brothers. Both Bing and Kathy like her very much, however, and this could be it.

I'm told the Christmas party at the Crosbys was a very happy affair with all the family taking part in the festivities.

A romance that is blooming practically under my nose is that of Walker (Moon) Mullins and pretty Janis Paige. He is my neighbor and at his party, as I told you, Janis acted as his hostess.

When she was making "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" at MGM, Moon was a frequent visitor on the set. He is a very successful broker, has money, is attractive. As for Janis, she's a very pretty girl and a talented one. She was formerly married to Arthur Stander, her TV producer.

The long rest Jean Simmons promised herself after she finished "Elmer Gantry" isn't to be. I talked to Jean today on the set and she said they finished "Gantry" last night, but she has to return to Universal-International for added scenes on "Spartacus."

Last Friday she was taken with a bad virus and an infection in her ear, which caused her to lose her equilibrium, but everything is all right now. Jean plans to go to the ranch for a few days, and said they had a wonderful Christmas with Stewart Granger's and her mother being here for the holidays.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Ladies, Be Interesting To The Men In Your Life

More and more men write asking me to discuss a point of charm to which they wish some woman in their lives would give more attention.

Here's a letter from an eminent New York professional man:

"Dear Mr. Powers:

"As the father of two grown daughters, I am naturally interested in your column.

"It is my unhappy observation that when starting to eat, so many girls set their forearms firmly on the edge of the table and bend their heads and backs toward the food instead of sitting properly and raising their food to their mouths as they were taught as children. If they could only see themselves as a man's eye sees them, they'd be horrified and embarrassed.

"Maybe, as my own girls tell me, I'm old-fashioned. I guess that's the fate which fathers can't overcome until they're grandfathers! But I do object to powder and lipstick applications at the table. The girls won't believe this but it's not because I dislike their poor timing so much as the fact that I am annoyed with the staining of the table linen, cups and glasses. Surely, leaving a reddish tint on tablewear is not the habit of a lady.

"It seems to me that's what a dressing room is for. I should think a lady might like to keep some of her secrets of her appearance to herself. I'm sure the young men would find her a bit more mysterious and not even my daughters can convince me that much since the days when I had a critical eye.

"Combing hair at the table in a restaurant is another gesture that seems unforgivable. It's anything but pretty and it's less than hygienic. I like to see the women I know so well groomed before they leave home that all their feminine charm shines through without need of repair.

Rep. Cannon Demands Deep Cut In Ike Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee Tuesday demanded a deep cut in the new federal budget to be submitted by President Eisenhower.

"The budget goes up and up every year," Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) said. "The interest on the national debt goes up and up. Wartime tax rates are kept in effect and there is no hope or expectation of cutting taxes."

"It is about time," Cannon said in an interview, "that Congress took steps to re-establish the credit of the government, which now is so bad that we have trouble selling our bonds."

Ground Broken For Third City Housing Project

'Fort Cumberland Homes' Is Its Name

Cumberland's third public housing project in 10 years was dubbed Fort Cumberland Homes yesterday as a highlight of a 10-minute ground breaking ceremony at the site near the intersection of Oldtown Road and Virginia Avenue.

William L. Wilson, attorney for the Cumberland Housing Authority who served as master of ceremonies, announced the name of this project of 80 new dwelling units in a brief statement early in the proceedings.

Mr. Wilson also announced to a crowd of between 40 and 50 spectators that the $975,375 contract awarded to the George Construction Company includes a new Housing Authority administration building at Jane Frazier Village in addition to the 12 buildings at Fort Cumberland Homes.

Rowan, Keech Dig

The actual ground breaking was the joint effort of John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, and Mayor J. Edwin Keech, both of whom also spoke briefly before cooperating to break ground.

Actually, employees of the George Construction Company already are well started on the $975,375 project which is to be completed in 300 calendar days. Foundations for eight of the 12 buildings to be constructed in the Oldtown Road area already have been poured.

Mr. Wilson spoke, in part, as follows:

"In the short span of 10 years, Cumberland has personally witnessed the development and growth of public housing in our city. In 1949 the first legislation was introduced by the Mayor and City Council creating the Housing Authority and of the original five members, two are still serving as commissioners. These members of the Authority contribute their valuable time without any compensation save that of the satisfaction of seeing public housing make its contributions towards making Cumberland a better city to live in.

Material Changes

"Whether we agree or not with the merits of low rent housing as administered by the Public Housing Authority, we must all admit that it has contributed to the well being of our city and has made material changes in the various sections of Cumberland. We need only go back a decade and recall the area surrounding Jane Frazier Village and the Benjamin Banneker Homes and compare them with the present-day condition of these neighborhoods. No one can deny the fact that great improvement has been made, and credit can be given for this to the wisdom, foresight and cooperation of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and the County Commissioners of Allegany County. Without their patience and faith in public housing, Cumberland and Allegany County would be poorer.

After his own remarks, Mr. Wilson called upon Mr. Rowan to speak. The commissioner said in part:

"It is particularly gratifying to note that the name chosen for this project so closely identifies it with the historical background of Cumberland. We have a heritage in this county second to none and we should cherish that heritage.

Rehabilitation Cited

"In this land of plenty, it is fitting that we provide housing for all of our citizens. Projects such as this provide not only houses for those in need but also aid in the rehabilitation of older areas and help preserve and uplift the remainder of the community."

Finally, Mayor Keech traced the development of the three housing projects which ultimately will provide low-rent housing for 235 families. Jane Frazier and Benjamin Banneker together account for 155 family units.

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and chairman of the Cumberland Housing Authority, delivered both the invocation and benediction. During the invocation he pointed out that yesterday was Epiphany, generally regarded as the end of the Christmas season. Christ himself was the victim of a housing shortage, as He was born in a stable because there was no room in the inn, he pointed out.

Send Regrets

Mr. Wilson read messages of regret from Governor J. Millard Tawes, U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert and State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein on their inability to attend the ceremonies.

Members of the Housing Authority besides Rev. Mr. Richardson are Earle L. Bracey, Ward N. Hauger, Hugh A. McMullen and F. Patrick Allender. All except Mr. Bracey were present for the ceremonies. Also on hand was Paul D. Pickens, a former member. Both Mr. Allender and Mr. Bracey have been members of the Authority since its inception.

Mrs. Hughes Hospitalized

Mrs. Annie M. Hughes, 91, of 11 Vermont Avenue, is a medical patient at Memorial Hospital, where she has been a patient since Sunday.

Fort Cumberland Homes' Ground Is Broken

water commissioner; Mayor Keech, Delegate Noel Speir Cook, County Commissioner John J. Rowan, Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, chairman of the Housing Authority, and William L. Wilson, attorney for the Housing Authority and master of ceremonies for the special occasion.

Welfare Group To Meet With Legislators

Session Called For January 18

Members of the Allegany County Welfare Board, county commissioners and other interested citizens will meet with State Senator Charles M. See and the County Delegation to the General Assembly January 18 to discuss prospective legislation.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Welfare Department, and Miss Elizabeth Schaub, a member of the State Welfare Department staff, will be in Cumberland for the meeting which will be held on the second floor of the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 12:30 p.m. January 18.

Miss Elizabeth Wilderman, director of the County Welfare Department, arranged for this meeting.

Members of the County Welfare Board, all of whom are planning to attend the meeting, are Mrs. Helen Kauffman, chairman; J. William Hunt, George K. Steiner, Wilbur Johnson of Nikep, Mrs. Mary Keyes of Lonaconing, Lynn C. Lashley and County Commissioner John T. Mason.

Others planning to attend are County Commissioners John J. Rowan and William A. Wilson, State's Attorney James S. Getty, Louis A. Fatkin, magistrate of juvenile causes, and the six members of the House of Delegates from Allegany County: Thomas F. Conlon Jr., Noel Speir Cook, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley, Lester B. Reed and William Walsh.

One of the items of particular interest to this county is possible legislation by which this county might be reimbursed by the State Welfare Department for care given indigent persons in the County Infirmary and County Home.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

LaVale Ice Skating Rink Work Nearing Completion

If Ol' Man Winter furnishes the necessary sub-freezing temperatures this weekend, the new ice skating rink at LaVale is expected to be put in use for skaters of that community and surrounding area.

Weather Mild Here, But W.Va. Gets Some Snow

The weather in Cumberland yesterday was rather nice as the mercury climbed to an unofficial reading of 48 degrees during the afternoon.

The picture was a little different in sections of West Virginia, where one to three inches of snow fell. Tucker County was among the eastern mountain counties where snow fell.

The snow caused hazardous driving conditions in the southern part of that state and the State Road Commission advised motorists to use chains on most roads. A chilling blast of winter weather is expected to continue today in West Virginia.

The outlook for Maryland today is cloudiness with not much change in the temperature which is expected to range from 34 to 44 degrees. Early this morning the mercury is expected to range from 20 to 26 in the west portion of Maryland.

LaVale Firemen Install Tuesday

Officers of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company will be installed during a regular meeting Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the fire hall.

Salvato, publicity; Charles Krimm, three-year trustee; William Detrick, two-year trustee; L. B. Carter, one-year trustee; Elmer Erbaugh; and Mark Volk, chaplain. James Loar is fire chief; Edgar J. Young, assistant fire chief; A. R. Salvato captain of communications; William Detrick, captain of equipment, and Paul Boch, captain of pumps.

After the meeting, refreshments will be served.

Church To Conduct Missions Course

A study course on African missions will be conducted at First Methodist Church, 1707 Frederick Street, beginning tonight at 7:30 p. m.

The devotional period will be under the direction of Miss Ina Keister after which Mrs. Burr James, secretary of missionary education and service, will give the introduction to the course.

Mrs. Francis Rinker will present a study of the map of Africa, also the first chapter of the textbook, "The Way in Africa," by George Wayland Carpenter. A portion of the life of David Livingstone will be discussed by Mrs. Dayton Twigg.

The public is invited to the classes which will be held each Thursday evening during January.

Del. Mathias Will Attend GOP Rally

Meeting Tonight At Frostburg

Del. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Frederick County), who has filed for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's Sixth District, plans to attend the public rally this evening in Frostburg when GOP leaders will kick off the 1960 campaign.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., of the Allegany County Republican Committee, will give brief remarks at the rally which will be held in the National Guard Armory beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Several hundred Republican leaders and workers from all sections of the county are expected to attend.

Mr. Beall, who will serve as master of ceremonies, said speakers will include Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart, State Senator Charles M. See, State's Attorney James S. Getty, and Mrs. Arthur Verner, president of the Cumberland Woman's Republican Club.

This evening plans will be set in motion to wrest the Sixth District Congressional post from Democratic Rep. John R. Foley and to elect a Republican to carry on the program instituted by President Eisenhower, the GOP committee said.

Missing Girls Are Located

Two 15-year-old girls, including a local resident, who were reported missing from the House of the Good Shepherd, Baltimore, have been located by authorities.

The local girl was located yesterday by city police. The other girl, who lives in Hagerstown, was reported to have been located on New Year's Day, police said.

Trailer Tax Paid

Another $10 house trailer arrival tax was paid by Clara R. Mease, 9 Ashbury Avenue, LaVale, this week to Tax Collector William B. Orndorff. It was the 23d such tax paid since the new house trailer law became effective June 1. These trailers are placed on the tax books and the $10 is deducted from the property taxes subsequently assessed.

County Schools Begin Three Census Projects

Young Handicapped Being Enumerated

Allegany County elementary school principals and teachers are doubling as census takers in three different tabulations being prepared between now and February 19, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county schools, who is in general charge of the record collecting.

The first census being taken throughout Allegany County is an enumeration of pre-school handicapped children from birth to six years of age as of December 31, 1959.

Mr. Higgins explained that as a result of federal legislation, the State of Maryland has been allocated about $250,000 which may be used throughout the state for pre-school handicapped children. This includes children who are impaired in the physical-motor area or the sensory-motor area and/or have intellectual limitations.

This program may include children with the listed impairments during their fourth or fifth year. Schools may establish group education or individual instruction or may participate in the payment of funds to private institutions of schools which will care for these children. The limitation is $400 per pupil per year.

This pre-school handicapped census, which was started yesterday, will be continued through January 18. Reports are due in Mr. Higgins' office by January 22. Parents who are not contacted for some unexplained reason are asked to notify the public elementary school principal in their area.

Concurrent with this county-wide pre-school handicapped census is a complete "nose count" census of all pre-school children in the "feeder" schools which ultimately provide the pupils for Fort Hill and Allegany high schools. Schools included in this "nose count" are Gephart, East Side, Johnson Heights, John Humbird, Virginia Avenue, Pennsylvania Avenue, Cresapton, Mount Royal, West Side, Centre Street, Columbia Street, Park side, LaVale and Northeast.

No child will be included in this census who is now enrolled in a public school. It is strictly for pre-school children from birth to six years as of December 31, 1959.

The last general census of this type was in 1954 and all of the children enumerated at that time now are in school.

Mr. Higgins explained that this is a most important census, because it will be used to project facility need, monetary need and teacher need for the next six years. Both Allegany and Fort Hill are overcrowded this year and there has been quite an influx of pupils in the Parkside, Gephart and Pennsylvania Avenue areas.

A third census, to be taken throughout Allegany County, is scheduled from February 10 through February 19. This is a census of handicapped school-age children between the ages of six and 18. It is mandatory each year under Section 227 of the Maryland School Laws. Reports from this enumeration are due in the supervisor's office by February 24.

Car Catches Fire In South End

Firemen from South End station yesterday were called to the intersection of Third and Thomas streets when an auto belonging to A. G. Neild, of Wiley Ford, caught fire.

They said the battery of the car, shorted out and insulation on the wiring burned. Firemen were called about 3:40 p. m. when Box 623 at the intersection of Second and Oak streets was pulled.

City Voting Rolls Drop 190 In 1959

11,583 Registered As 1960 Begins

Voting rolls of the City of Cumberland dropped 190 during 1959.

The December report issued by Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk, showed that 11,583 citizens were registered to vote as the year ended.

With the Christmas vacation coming, only four citizens took time out to register at City Hall during December. The net loss during the month totaled 30 after the names of 34 deceased voters were stricken from the rolls.

Registered on January 1 were 5,988 white males, 5,391 white females, 126 Negro males and 78 Negro females for the 11,583 total.

Mrs. Mangus said the major loss came when 87 citizens lost their voting privileges because they did not go to the polls here during the past five years.

Since city officials are elected for four-year terms, a voter must cast a ballot in either the city primary or general election to keep eligible for future city elections.

Deaths were the next major cause of the declining voting rolls. A number of persons were dropped from the records after they moved out of town and several were stripped of their voting franchise after they were convicted of felonies.

County Records First Traffic Death Of Year

Allegany County suffered its first highway fatality of 1960 early yesterday with the death of a young Keyser, W. Va., man in Potomac Valley Hospital.

The victim, Frederick Eugene Hook, 25, of 47 "D" Street, Keyser, died of injuries sustained in a spectacular one-car accident Sunday evening.

Hospital attaches said the young man was unconscious when admitted with a fractured skull and other head injuries. He never regained consciousness.

A native of McCoole, he was employed as a papermaker at the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

He was a son of Mrs. Cora Hook of Keyser, and the late James Arthur Hook.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sandra Jean (Yocum) Hook; a son, Frederick E. Hook Jr., at home; two brothers, J. L. Hook, Baltimore, and Arthur J. Hook, RD 2, Keyser; a sister, Mrs. Catherine A. Fertig, of France, and a half-brother, Paul McDonald, Baltimore.

His body is at the Markwood Funeral Home in Keyser.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home on Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Henderson of McCoole. Interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Alien Address Report Is Due January 31

All aliens in Maryland who have not yet filled out alien address report forms are being urged to do so before the January 31 deadline by contacting their nearest Immigration Service office or the local post office.

The law requires all non-citizens except persons in diplomatic status, foreign representatives to the United Nations and Mexican national contract laborers to report their addresses to the government each January.

The parent or legal guardian of alien children under 14 years of age must fill out the address report form for such children in order to comply with the law.

State Education Board Opposes Pay Raise Plan

Pullen Calls Setup 'Dangerous' Scheme

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland State Board of Education Wednesday refused to back a legislative committee plan for moderate increases in teacher salaries.

Without a dissenting vote the board acted after Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, pinned a "dangerous" tag on the plan recommended by the Legislative Council Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters.

"This plan means the death knell of equal opportunity for education in the State of Maryland until we go to some other scheme," said Pullen.

He spoke at a special board meeting called to review school legislation scheduled for introduction at the 1960 session of the General Assembly.

Bill To Be Presented

Pullen referred to the recommendations of the fiscal committee under Sen. William S. James (D-Howard), which will be in the first batch of bills presented after the 30-day session opens Feb. 3 in Annapolis.

Turning down a $13,700,000 teachers pay raise plan proposed by the Maryland State Teachers Assn., the James committee recommended a five-million-dollar-a-year package emphasizing a $300-a-year increase for teachers with at least 10 years experience.

The James group also proposed that the annual salary scale required by state law be raised from $3,200-$5,000 to $3,500-$5,600, depending on length of service.

No Equalization

But unlike the present arrangement, local or county governments using their own funds to pay above the present minimum scales—and this includes all subdivisions in Maryland—would receive no additional aid from the State Equalization Fund to help pay for the higher minimums.

They would be compelled to do what they are now doing voluntarily—tap their local treasuries beyond the present state requirement to support teacher pay scales. The only present state requirement is that a county earmark 75 cents of its property tax rate for education. The state also chips in $20 per pupil and $1,000 per classroom.

If the local property tax and the state aid per pupil and classroom are not enough to finance the minimum education needs set by the state, money from the equalization fund of the general state treasury is used to make up the difference.

Would "Freeze" Funds

Pullen concentrated his opposition to the James recommendations on the point that, even though a county would be forced to pay teachers $3,500-$5,600, only the $3,200-$5,000 scale would be used in computing that county's equalization fund credit.

In effect, he said, this is like telling one county that it must levy a higher local tax rate than another county to meet state education requirements applying to both counties.

"It immediately freezes money for teachers' salaries and might need for some other purpose," he said. "This is exceedingly dangerous and violates the whole principle of equalization."

The state school superintendent produced figures showing how much each county would have to tax property to support the $3,500-$5,600 scale, compared with the 75 cents per $100 of property valuation it now must levy. The figures ranged from the low of 81 cents each for Baltimore City and Baltimore County to 95 cents for Somerset County.

George Rhoderick, board member from Frederick County, immediately supported Pullen's view.

"Even though the counties are paying more now than they are required to pay," he said, "I don't think it should be changed from a voluntary basis to a compulsory one."

Other Actions

In other actions the board: 1. Withheld endorsement of a proposal, already approved by the Legislative Council, to set up a special fund for teaching automobile driving in public high schools. All board members said they felt private commercial facilities for such instruction are adequate and driver education would infringe on valuable public school time.

2. Approved a plan to regulate and license dancing schools, health studios and similar establishments which solicit students for instruction on a profit-making basis.

3. Approved a proposal to adjust retirement benefits of teachers and other state employees to help offset cost-of-living increases.
